

6 Senators To Probe McCarthy's Conduct

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 75-12 vote of the Senate last night consigned to a special bipartisan committee a censure move aimed at Sen. McCarthy and evidently signaled a lengthy new investigation of the Wisconsin Republican's conduct.

Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP leader, predicted appointment by Vice President Nixon "within 48 hours" of a six-member inquiry committee charged with sifting nearly 50 overlapping charges against McCarthy, the Senate's controversial investigator.

In the face of a setback in his efforts to force an immediate showdown on the censure issue, McCarthy called for "morning, afternoon and evening sessions" of the group to draft a speedy report. "All I want is a vote by the Senate," he declared.

The Senate's vote sent to the special committee a censure motion by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.), which Flanders punctuated by reading a list of 33 counts against McCarthy, plus six specific accusations against McCarthy by Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), seven similar charges by Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore), and proposals for study of any charges in the Senate's investigating rules.

At the demand of Sen. Ives (R-N.Y.), Knowland amended his motion to call for a progress report from the group before Congress adjourns, perhaps in two weeks.

The majority leader said if the committee finds it can't complete its investigation by then, the Senate will have to decide whether it wants to stay on in Washington to await a final report while House members go home.

Forty Republicans, 34 Democrats and Morse voted for Knowland's proposal to set up the special committee, thus breaking through the tangle that had kept the Senate boiling.

Three Republicans—Sen. Cooper (Ky.), Duff (Pa.), and Flanders—voted against the resolution, as did nine Democrats—Sens. Fulbright, Chavez (NM), Douglas (Ill.), Hennings (Mo.), Hill (Ala.), Humphrey (Minn.), Lehman (N.Y.), Magnuson (Wash.) and Monroney (Okla.).

These 12 generally argued that the Senate should vote on the question of censuring McCarthy without any further inquiry. While McCarthy himself voted "present" on the rollcall, his supporters joined in the move to set up a new investigation which seems likely to keep him busy for some time answering questions about his conduct of investigations, his personal finances and his attacks on other senators, government officials and former officials.

He said he saw no reason why it would be necessary to hear more than about eight witnesses, himself and seven senators who have assailed him. He named these as Fulbright, Lehman, Hennings, Monroney, Flanders, Cooper and Morse.

Of the senators he named, all except Cooper and Fulbright said they would be glad to testify under oath.

Fulbright said that there is "no limit" to the number of witnesses McCarthy may seek to call. Hennings predicted a "donnybrook." Monroney said the Senate was in error in handing the issue to a committee "in the hope that it will go away."

John Fisher, Top Newsmen, Dies In Columbus At Age 80

COLUMBUS (AP)—John W. Fisher, one of Ohio's best-known newspapermen, died in his home here early today.

Fisher, 80, began his career as a newspaper carrier at the age of 12. At the time of his death he had been a member of the Dayton Daily News' Columbus bureau more than 30 years. In the years between, he had been a printer's devil, an editor and a publisher.

His only break from the newspaper business in that time was the three terms he spent as city clerk and one term as mayor of Delphos.

After a stint as paper carrier, he was given a job in the printshop of the Lima News. At 16, he became Delphos correspondent and later city editor of that paper.

He edited the Wapakoneta Daily News, the St. Marys Independent and the old Lima Daily Herald.

For a while, he turned publisher, operating his own paper in Manitou Springs, Colo., before the turn of the century. At one time he also owned a semi-weekly in Ohio, covering politics and government. He reported activities of the administrations of half a dozen Ohio governors—from Vic Donahey to Frank J. Lausche—and every General Assembly since 1919.

On the national scene, he covered party conventions in Cleveland, New York, San Francisco, Philadelphia and Chicago.

Rhee Presses Plea For War Against Reds

NEW YORK (AP)—Throughout a day and night crowded with honors, South Korean President Syngman Rhee repeated dark prophecies of an inevitable showdown between the free world and the Communists.

Standing in a drizzling rain before City Hall yesterday, after a ticker-tape parade and praise by city officials for a lifetime dedicated to freedom, he sounded the day's first warning.

"War must come soon and it is necessary that the United States, the champion of the free nations of the world, be saved from a terrible catastrophe," he declared. "The later it comes the more terrible it will be."

Again at Columbia University, where he received an honorary doctor of laws degree, he warned:

"We are still engaged in a losing battle with the Communists. If we continue as we are now, we are fighting a losing battle. Don't back down. To retreat, to back down, means disaster."

In the evening at a dinner in his honor attended by 1,500 people, he renewed the plea he made to Congress last week for American backing in an attack against the Communists in Asia.

To take the offensive now, he said, would give the free world a chance to "stop the Communists and actually push them back."

Bobo Nearing Divorce And $5½ Million

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Blonde Bobo Rockefeller and her expensive array of legal talent prepared today to close out the romantic saga of the coal miner's daughter and the multimillionaire oil heir.

The 37-year-old Bobo may file for divorce at any time from 42-year-old Winthrop Rockefeller.

It may come later today, judging only by the apparent last-minute preparations going on at Bobo's divorce headquarters, a suburban Reno home she has rented.

Reporters who phoned the residence have been cut short with: "Sorry, we're busy. Call back later." The voice usually identifies themselves as Bobo's attorneys.

She has six lawyers—five from New York and one from Nevada.

The attorneys have pulled a curtain of secrecy over preparations for her divorce from Rockefeller, who is the father of her 5½-year-old son, Winthrop Paul.

Bobo, in exchange for a signed and delivered divorce, will get $2 million in cash, $2½ million in trust funds for herself and Winthrop Paul and another $1 million in personal property.

She will also have custody of the youngster—with whom Rockefeller has been getting acquainted the last few days. He will have the right to see the boy a few times a year.

Bobo and the Standard Oil heir married on Valentine's Day 1948, two years after she shed Boston socialite Richard Sears Jr. with a Nevada divorce.

Cincinnati Milk Truce Declared

CINCINNATI (AP)—A truce was declared early today in the dispute between management and union and delivery of milk will be resumed throughout the greater Cincinnati area beginning tomorrow.

A strike of 2,200 AFL drivers and dairy plant workers against 44 dairies, called last Saturday night, had been only partially in effect. Negotiations, with federal mediator James A. Mackraz sitting in continued for 20 hours before agreement was reached at 7 a. m. today to call a truce and resume operations.

Car Hits Tree Monday Night; Two Injured

A Williamsport youth, who apparently lost control of his car, received injuries to his head when his car hit a tree Monday night.

Jack Picklesimer, 18, is listed in "good" condition in Berger Hospital. He reportedly suffered a slight laceration of his forehead and other head injuries.

A passenger, Dixieanne Simon, 16, of Circleville, suffered bruises and abrasions of her ankle and hip, according to a report by State Patrolman Bob Greene.

The patrolman said Picklesimer was traveling south on Dublin Hill Rd., 2.6 miles northwest of Williamsport. Greene said the youth apparently bent over to pick something up from the floor when the car went out of control.

AFTER SWERVING off the left side of the road the car hit a tree on the farm of Jack Dunlap. The accident occurred at 10:45 p. m.

Picklesimer lost an eye 14 years ago, Greene explained. Last year, while playing basketball, Picklesimer was hit on the head.

The youth is a brother of Glen Picklesimer who recently joined the Circleville police force.

Ex-Cabinet Aide Lashes Gen. Marshall

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring says he once "thought very highly" of Gen. George C. Marshall "but I lost faith in him."

Woodring had a hand in having Marshall named Army chief of staff in World War II, but a letter made public yesterday by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) quoted the former Democratic secretary as saying six weeks ago that Marshall "would sell out his grandmother for personal advantage."

Marshall, reached in Leesburg, Va., declined comment.

McCarthy offered the letter, dated last June 23, for the Congressional Record during Senate debate on a move by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) to censure him.

Some of McCarthy's critics had cited as a reason for censure the Wisconsin senator's 1951 speech saying Marshall was "steeped in falsehood."

Woodring confirmed in Topeka, Kan., that he had written a letter to Robert M. Harris of New York City to thank him for a book about McCarthy. He told newsmen he had lost faith in Marshall because he thought the general "sold out."

Chiang Kai-shek on a postwar peace mission to China for former President Truman.

Woodring was secretary of war in 1936-40, but was critical of many of his colleagues in the Franklin D. Roosevelt cabinet after that.

McCarthy said he had obtained the letter from another senator who got it from Harris.

Police Press Questioning Of Dr. Sheppard

Bay Village Physician Continues To Deny Murdering Wife

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police fired a new series of questions at Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard today, but the osteopath continued to balk at discussing many details surrounding his wife's slaying.

Homicide detectives, beginning their fourth day of interrogation said the 30-year-old prisoner appeared worried at times.

He refused flatly to view a picture taken of his wife, Marilyn, 31, shortly after she was found hacked to death in her bed July 4.

Detectives said, Dr. Sheppard still insisted he was innocent and that his stock answer to many questions was: "On advice of counsel I can't talk about it."

His attorney, William Corrigan, noted criminal defense attorney, has repeatedly urged him not to talk to police.

A full report is expected later today on a physical examination given the doctor.

HANDCUFFED and garbed in prison denim, the 30-year-old osteopath was taken last night to City Hospital, where his orthopedic neck brace was removed and four doctors examined him.

Now, 37 years, seven children and 13 grandchildren later, she will receive her B. A. degree from Marshall College here Aug. 20.

She took her four-year college courses mostly in "spare" time while raising her children. Her major is in elementary education.

August Gets Fast Edge On Drought Here

For the past two months—and over long periods through recent years—the Circleville area has been taking its share of beating from the drought.

But for August at least, the district is off to a fast start in an effort to catch up on badly needed ground moisture. Monday's rainfall, according to local weather observers, amounted to .23 inch. And that is enough to put the district slightly ahead of normal figures for the first two days of August.

Special charts compiled by the Columbus weather bureau to trace progress of the drought in the Circleville area call for an accumulation of .20 inch for the first two days.

However, weather bureau officials explain the data has to be considered over periods of several days for a true reading, pointing out that normal rainfall for a any one particular day cannot be estimated.

FOR THAT reason, The Herald's "score" on progress of the drought here will not be resumed until late this week. The area's rainfall for July was 1.50 inch below normal.

The Scioto river at Circleville Tuesday was 2.10 feet.

Village Police Chief Held In Shooting Case

WASHINGTON C. H. (AP)—Jeffersonville Police Chief William M. Holford, 57, pleaded guilty today to shooting with intent to kill and was held in the Fayette County jail under $10,000 bond.

The charges were filed by Paul Rittenhouse, 40, of Jeffersonville after the shooting late yesterday.

Sheriff Orland Hays said Holford, when arraigned in court today, warned Rittenhouse:

"I'll get you yet for breaking up my home."

Hays said Holford spotted Rittenhouse's car yesterday containing Holford's wife and another passenger west of Jeffersonville.

The sheriff said Holford trailed the car into Jeffersonville, stopped it, broke a window in it with his blackjack and then fired three times at Rittenhouse, who had jumped from the machine.

Hays said Rittenhouse then disarmed Holford who was later arrested by one of Hays' deputies. Rittenhouse suffered a power burn on one hand.

Jeffersonville Mayor Russell Mitchell today stripped Chief Holford of his badge and police credentials. No successor was appointed immediately.

Chamber Warns Community Chest Study Here Will Be Long Task

A spokesman for Circleville Chamber of Commerce said Tuesday that the organization's study of Community Chest methods is a complicated task, and that "it is going to take time."

Under the Community Chest plan—also frequently known as the United Appeals or Red Feather system—virtually all of a community's health and charity campaigns are organized into one big annual drive. In many communities throughout the nation, the plan has been in operation for a number of years.

Circleville's Chamber announced last month it was beginning a study

Drought Aid Tapered Off By Ag Agency

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal aid being offered farmers in drought-plagued areas is less liberal this year than last.

Under an assistance program announced yesterday by Secretary of Agriculture Benson, eligible farmers may buy corn, oats, barley and grain sorghums at cut-rate prices. This grain will be used to help them maintain foundation herds.

Corn and wheat were offered for such a purpose last year, but at somewhat lower prices than those announced for the current drought emergency.

Under the new program, eligible farmers will be able to buy the designated livestock feed grains through their regular feed dealers at prices 60 cents per 100 pounds below current market levels.

That means a government subsidy of about 34 cents a bushel for corn. At current average farm prices, corn would cost the farmer about $1.16 a bushel. Last year, corn was offered at $1 a bushel.

Under last year's program, wheat was offered at $1.10 a bushel. But wheat is not being subsidized for drought use this year. The emergency drought relief prices this year would average, at least price quotations, about 48 cents a bushel for oats, about 71 cents a bushel for barley and about $1.60 per 100 pounds for grain sorghums.

A limited quantity of oats was sold for drought use last year at 50 cents a bushel.

But Actions Said Too Minor To Justify War

Red China Gets New U.S. Protest Against Downing Of Airliner

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles today sharply accused the Communists of violating the Korean armistice, but he said the violations were not serious enough to justify resuming the war.

Dulles also disclosed that a new protest has been sent through Britain to Communist China over the loss of three American lives in the shooting down of a British airliner almost two weeks ago off Hainan Island.

Dulles said, on another Far Eastern question, that United States warships and airplanes would protect Formosa against any enemy attack, but America has made no decision to enter into an alliance with the Chinese Nationalist government there.

As for Southeast Asian defense arrangements, Dulles said he hoped decisions would be made in a week or 10 days on the time and place for holding a conference on conclusion of a defensive alliance.

DULLES TOLD questioners he could not go into detail on the latest U. S. protest over the shooting down of the British airliner. But he said the main U. S. argument is that Red China is completely wrong in arguing that because the aircraft was British the United States government does not have a claim to present on behalf of the damages suffered by its own citizens.

The Korean truce situation came in for detailed discussion. It has been dramatized in recent days by the visit here of South Korean President Syngman Rhee who has demanded an end to the neutral nations' supervisory commission (Continued on Page Two)

Air Service Change For Ohio Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Recommendations to change passenger plane service in Ohio were made yesterday by Civil Aeronautics Board Examiner William Madden.

He suggested Eastern Air Lines be authorized to operate beyond Charlotte, N. C., to Detroit via Columbus and Toledo and Piedmont Aviation be extended beyond Charleston to Columbus via Parkersburg and Marietta.

He denied the application of Lake Central Airlines for a route between Charleston and Detroit via Columbus, Lima and Toledo.

His decision will be final unless exceptions are filed within 10 days from date of recommendation.

Madden said Lake Central would need an additional $300,000 yearly in mail subsidy support for the proposed route.

Eastern had asked for an extension of its route beyond Charleston to Detroit, via Columbus and Toledo, as an alternate to the Charleston-Detroit route it now operates by way of Akron and Cleveland.

Lake Central, he said, already is in position to meet part of Lima's needs for local service through the special authority it now has for flights between Kokomo, Ind., Lima and Marion.

He said it is possible for Lake Central under that authority to route a through-plane service between Lima and Columbus via Marion.

6 Senators To Probe McCarthy's Conduct

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 75-12 vote of the Senate last night consigned to a special bipartisan committee a censure move aimed at Sen. McCarthy and evidently signaled a lengthy new investigation of the Wisconsin Republican's conduct.

Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP leader, predicted appointment by Vice President Nixon "within 48 hours" of a six-member inquiry committee charged with sifting nearly 50 overlapping charges against McCarthy, the Senate's controversial investigator.

The majority leader said if the committee finds it can't complete its investigation by then, the Senate will have to decide whether it wants to stay on in Washington to await a final report while House members go home.

Forty Republicans, 34 Democrats and Morse voted for Knowland's proposal to set up the special committee, thus breaking through the tangle that had kept the Senate boiling.

Three Republicans—Sen. Cooper (Ky), Duff (Pa), and Flanders—voted against the resolution, as did nine Democrats—Sens. Fulbright, Chavez (NM), Douglas (Ill), Hennings (Mo), Hill (Ala), Humphrey (Minn), Lehman (NY), Magnuson (Wash) and Monroney (Okla).

These 12 generally argued that the Senate should vote on the question of censuring McCarthy without any further inquiry. While McCarthy himself voted

Rhee Presses Plea For War Against Reds

NEW YORK (AP)—Throughout a day and night crowded with honors, South Korean President Syngman Rhee repeated dark prophecies of an inevitable showdown between the free world and the Communists.

Standing in a drizzling rain before City Hall yesterday, after a ticker-tape parade and praise by city officials for a lifetime dedicated to freedom, he sounded the day's first warning.

"War must come soon and it is necessary that the United States, the champion of the free nations of the world, be saved from a terrible catastrophe," he declared. "The later it comes the more terrible it will be."

Again at Columbia University, where he received an honorary doctor of laws degree, he warned:

"We are still engaged in a losing battle with the Communists. If we continue as we are now, we are fighting a losing battle. Don't back down. To retreat, to back down, means disaster."

In the evening at a dinner in his honor attended by 1,500 people, he renewed the plea he made to Congress last week for American backing in an attack against the Communists in Asia.

"To take the offensive now, he said, would give the free world a chance to 'stop the Communists and actually push them back.'"

VFW Parading

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Some 75,000 Veterans of Foreign Wars members and auxiliaries lined up for a giant seven hour parade today highlighting their week-long annual encampment here.

AMERICAN FARMERS whose crops are plagued by grasshoppers might take a wisp of comfort from this scene—a huge swarm of yellow 'hoppers over New Delhi, India. It was the worst swarm in living memory, and the sky was darkened for hours.

August Gets Fast Edge On Drought Here

For the past two months—and over long periods through recent years—the Circleville area has been taking its share of beating from the drought.

But for August at least, the district is off to a fast start in an effort to catch up on badly needed ground moisture. Monday's rainfall, according to local weather observers, amounted to .23 inch. And that is enough to put the district slightly ahead of normal figures for the first two days of August.

Special charts compiled by the Columbus weather bureau to trace progress of the drought in the Circleville area call for an accumulation of .20 inch for the first two days.

However, weather bureau officials explain the data has to be considered over periods of several days for a true reading, pointing out that normal rainfall for a any one particular day cannot be estimated.

FOR THAT reason, The Herald's "score" on progress of the drought here will not be resumed until late this week. The area's rainfall for July was 1.50 inch below normal.

The Scioto river at Circleville Tuesday was 2.10 feet.

Village Police Chief Held In Shooting Case

WASHINGTON C. H. (AP)—Jeffersonville Police Chief William M. Holford, 57, pleaded guilty today to shooting with intent to kill and was held in the Fayette County jail under $10,000 bond.

The charges were filed by Paul Rittenhouse, 40, of Jeffersonville after the shooting late yesterday. Sheriff Orland Hays said Holford, when arraigned in court today, warned Rittenhouse:

"I'll get you yet for breaking up my home."

Hays said Holford spotted Rittenhouse's car yesterday containing Holford's wife and another passenger west of Jeffersonville.

The sheriff said Holford trailed the car into Jeffersonville, stopped it, broke a window in it with his blackjack and then fired three times at Rittenhouse, who had jumped from the machine.

Hays said Rittenhouse then disarmed Holford who was later arrested by one of Hays' deputies. Rittenhouse suffered a power burn on one hand.

Jeffersonville Mayor Russell Mitchell today stripped Chief Holford of his badge and police credentials. No successor was appointed immediately.

Postmaster Named

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower yesterday nominated Harry A. Titsworth as postmaster at Fremont, Ohio.

But Actions Said Too Minor To Justify War

Red China Gets New U.S. Protest Against Downing Of Airliner

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles today sharply accused the Communists of violating the Korean armistice, but he said the violations were not serious enough to justify resuming the war.

Dulles also disclosed that a new protest has been sent through Britain to Communist China over the loss of three American lives in the shooting down of a British airliner almost two weeks ago off Hainan Island.

Dulles said, on another Far Eastern question, that United States warships and airplanes would protect Formosa against any enemy attack, but America has made no decision to enter into an alliance with the Chinese Nationalist government there.

As for Southeast Asian defense arrangements, Dulles said he hoped decisions would be made in a week or 10 days on the time and place for holding a conference on conclusion of a defensive alliance.

DULLES TOLD questioners he could not go into detail on the latest U. S. protest over the shooting down of the British airliner. But he said the main U. S. argument is that Red China is completely wrong in arguing that because the aircraft was British the United States government does not have a claim to present on behalf of the damages suffered by its own citizens.

The Korean truce situation came in for detailed discussion. It has been dramatized in recent days by the visit here of South Korean President Syngman Rhee who has demanded an end to the neutral nations' supervisory commission (Continued on Page Two)

Air Service Change For Ohio Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Recommendations to change passenger plane service in Ohio were made yesterday by Civil Aeronautics Board Examiner William Madden.

He suggested Eastern Air Lines be authorized to operate beyond Charlotte, N. C., to Detroit via Columbus and Toledo and Piedmont Aviation be extended beyond Charleston to Columbus via Parkersburg and Marietta.

He denied the application of Lake Central Airlines for a route between Charleston and Detroit via Columbus, Lima and Toledo.

His decision will be final unless exceptions are filed within 10 days from date of recommendation.

Madden said Lake Central would need an additional $300,000 yearly in mail subsidy support for the proposed route.

Eastern had asked for an extension of its route beyond Charleston to Detroit, via Columbus and Toledo, as an alternate to the Charleston-Detroit route it now operates by way of Akron and Cleveland.

Lake Central, he said, already is in position to meet part of Lima's needs for local service through the special authority it now has for flights between Kokomo, Ind., Lima and Marion.

He said it is possible for Lake Central under that authority to route a through-plane service between Lima and Columbus via Marion.

Paris-To-New York Airliner Crashes

PRESTON, Conn. (AP)—A four-engine Paris-to-New York Constellation with 37 persons aboard crashed and burst into flames on a rain-sodden farm today. None was reported killed, but some were injured.

The plane was in contact with control towers at Hillsboro, R.I., State Airport and the Quonset Naval Air Station and reportedly informed personnel at those places the ship was "running out of gas."

Chamber Warns Community Chest Study Here Will Be Long Task

A spokesman for Circleville Chamber of Commerce said Tuesday that the organization's study of Community Chest methods is a complicated task, and that "it is going to take time."

Under the Community Chest plan—also frequently known as the United Appeals or Red Feather system—virtually all of a community's health and charity campaigns are organized into one big annual drive. In many communities throughout the nation, the plan has been in operation for a number of years.

Circleville's Chamber announced last month it was beginning a study of the merged campaign operations. Officials of the group have emphasized the Chamber is only exploring the method, without taking official stand on whether such a system should be adopted for Circleville.

Roy Marshall, downtown business man, is head of the Chamber committee handling the study.

HE SAID the next step will come on Aug. 24 when officials of the Circleville Chamber confer with Chamber spokesmen from Lancaster, where the Community Chest system is in operation. Marshall added the local organization has already received considerable data on how other cities operate their combined drives.

"However, we want to stress that any study of the Community Chest idea is complicated—more so than the average person realizes," Marshall said. "It is going to take time, and it is going to require a long-range campaign of education to show the public what the benefits of a Community Chest could be for Circleville."

"Our efforts will be in vain, of course, unless we can win the support of the local leaders of the various organizations. They're the ones who can point out the best way to go about it, and they're the ones who can sell the idea to their own national organizations."

"Without this support—without getting the local backing—our task is hopeless. We have to do this thing on a local basis. We can't sell it nationally."

Those close to the Chamber study indicated no steps to establish a Community Chest can be made this year. One of the most difficult tasks involved, they explained, is to arrange how the contributed funds would be divided to the various agencies.

Two Measures Get Spotlight In Council

Interest in city council's meeting Tuesday night will center on two ordinances up for third and final reading.

One of the measures would extend the city's summertime law on stray dogs to an all-year basis. The law against stray dogs is more stringent during the summer months.

The other measure would force eating places and service stations in residential districts to close during the early morning hours.

Council will meet, for its first August session, at 8 p. m. in city hall.

Haymes Loses Again

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Singer Dick Haymes, husband of actress Rita Hayworth, again has been ordered deported following a rehearing of his case. The Immigration and Naturalization Service upheld yesterday the deportation order issued last March 23.

6 Senators To Probe McCarthy

thored the 33 counts he read against McCarthy, said that "unless the special committee is very carefully selected it will end up either thoroughly intimidated or completely whitewashing McCarthy."

The committee describes itself as a group working for the election to Congress of "liberal" members of both major parties.

Flanders' charges included such accusations as that McCarthy permitted his investigations subcommittee staff to conduct itself in an "involuntary manner."

McCarthy challenged Flanders' charge that a member of the Investigations subcommittee staff had investigated Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.), one of the senators who took part in the McCarthy-Army hearings.

McCarthy said he had "no information in any way, shape or form that would indicate even remotely there could be any investigation of Sen. Jackson."

When Flanders acknowledged he got his information about the incident from a newspaper account, Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) said the Vermont senator was indulging in "the same things of which you accuse the senator from Wisconsin. I'm amazed."

"So am I," said Flanders and he added, "I am amazed that a senator with the experience of the senator from Indiana would pay no attention to what is in the newspapers."

Hereford Group Plans 1954 Tour

Members of the Pickaway Hereford Breeder's Association will gather at C. M. Maxson and Sons near Laurelville on Aug. 12 at 9 a. m. for the organization's annual summer tour of member breeding establishments.

Farms to be visited during the day, in addition to the host farm, will be those of:

Creager and Jones, of Circleville; R. N. Call, of Circleville; Mrs. A. E. Weidner and Son, of Lancaster; William Boppe and Son, of Rushville; Glick and McDill, of Circleville, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth D. Blue and Son, of Circleville.

A sack lunch will be held at noon. Information relating to the tour can be obtained from Vaughn Grubb, secretary of the association.

Jackson Boy With National FFA Band

Byron Franklin Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Carter of Jackson Township, has received word that he has been selected as one of 10 boys to represent the Ohio Association of Future Farmers of America in the national FFA Band.

The band will furnish music at the national FFA convention at Kansas City Oct. 11 to 14. It will also play for the American Royal parade on Aug. 16.

Hillis Hall, vocational agriculture instructor at Jackson School, revealed that young Carter had recently returned from Camp Perry, where he represented the Pickaway County schools at Boy's State.

Byron has been a member of the Fox FFA for the past three years, and represented the chapter on state livestock judging teams and the business procedure team. He has been a member of the Ohio FFA Band the past two years.

Veteran GOP Congressman Faces Stiff Election Test

WASHINGTON (U)—A veteran congressman's fight for his political life today stood out in listless primarily elections in Michigan, Kansas, West Virginia and Missouri.

Rep. Dewey Short, Missouri Republican and chairman of the powerful House Armed Services Committee, faced a stiff challenge from State Sen. Noel Cox. Short, a House member for 22 years, was seen getting a boost, however, from yesterday's White House decision to extend federal drought aid to some southwest Missouri counties.

Otherwise, there were no major contests on the day's slate and light balloting was forecast.

Candidates for the U. S. Senate will be named in Kansas, Michigan and West Virginia, but no incumbents faced serious threats. And only 17 of the 41 House members seeking re-election in the four states had primary opposition.

Police Press Questioning Of Dr. Sheppard

claimed afterward that there "was nothing seriously wrong" with Sheppard, as determined by the examination. The chief said it did not include psychiatric tests.

The prisoner, whose attorney previously had barred a hospital check up, made no protest about the examination, Story said.

He added that Sheppard had complained of neck pains yesterday morning, and when jail officials asked for an examination, "we arranged to have it done by experts."

Called in by police were Dr. Spencer Braden, a police department neurosurgery consultant; Dr. Harry Slade, assistant neurosurgeon at City Hospital; Dr. Allyn W. Tramer, acting chief of orthopedic service there; and Dr. George P. Greene, police surgeon.

Meanwhile, strange-looking lights flickered at the sprawling suburban home where Sheppard's pregnant wife was found in her bed, clubbed to death by 25 bone-deep blows.

Crime experts, using infrared and ultra-violet lights, picked through the lakefront house seeking blood stains and other clues.

Sheppard has told police he was injured and knocked out twice in fights with his wife's murderer. Since then he has frequently worn a white leather and metal orthopedic collar.

7th District Candidate Said Quitting Race

COLUMBUS (U)—Reports that Charles West of Lebanon had resigned as Democratic nominee for Congress in the 7th District led to disclosure today that he is the only candidate failing to file a primary election expense statement with the secretary of state.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown's office said statute requires an expense statement before West can receive a certificate of nomination. Certificates of nomination are required by candidates in order to have their names on Nov. 2 election ballots.

Because ballots must be certified by Aug. 19, officials said they had tried to contact West three times by mail without success. The last letter to him on July 27 was returned for a "better address." It went by registered mail.

West, who formerly served as 17th District congressman in the Roosevelt era, seeks to represent the 7th District composed of Clinton, Warren, Logan, Union, Champaign, Clark, Madison and Greene counties. His Republican opponent is incumbent Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Blanchester.

Officials said candidates for elective state offices and congressional seats must file primary campaign expense statements with the secretary of state. Others file with county election boards.

ZANESVILLE (U)—Two young fishermen drowned early today when their plywood rowboat tipped over in the Muskingum River six miles south of here. A third swim about 75 feet to safety.

George Tharp, Jr., 26, of Roseville and William McGilton, 19, of Canfield drowned in more than 15 feet of water. William Ridenour, 20, of Somerset made it to shore and notified authorities who recovered the bodies. Ridenour said the boat, apparently topheavy, tipped when Tharp leaned out the front end to place a trotline in the water.

2 Defendants In Defiance Church Fuss Change Sides

DEFIANCE (U)—The lineup of contending parties in the St. Paul Methodist Church controversy here was changed somewhat today in court developments.

Two members of the church's official board, Mrs. Paul H. Underhill and Miss Gertrude Hoffman, filed answers in common pleas court asking to be made parties to pleas of the plaintiff.

They had been named along with 49 officers of the church and Joseph C. Richards, as defendants in an injunction suit filed by the board of trustees of the Methodist Church, District Supt. Kenneth S. Leary of Van Wert, and the Rev. Robert B. Weaver, pastor of the church.

The injunction, among other things, asked that the church's business manager and former pastor, Richards, and officer of the

School Aid Bill Awaiting Action; City Still Hopes To Get Funds

U. S. Senator Thomas A. Burke, Ohio's junior spokesman in the upper house, announced Tuesday that the Senate committee on labor and public welfare has reported a bill designed to aid school construction projects.

Progress of the legislation has been watched with particular interest here in view of the long-range building program recently outlined for the Circleville city school system. Early reports have been that Circleville would not be eligible to benefit by the bill's provisions, but a final decision on this point has yet to be made.

The bill reported out of committee by Burke would authorize a three-year extension of a law under which the federal government lends financial help to school construction in certain areas. To be eligible, an area has to be able to show a certain degree of "impact" from nearby federal activities—government installations, projects, and the like.

On this point, Circleville city school leaders have recently been given new hope that the "impact" of Lockbourne Air Base is sufficient to make the community eligible for aid.

Unofficial spokesmen for the air base expressed surprise when told the city had been notified it lacked enough "impact" from the gigantic air installation.

A HOUSING program recently launched at the air base, was reliably estimated, "will only be a drop in the bucket" toward meeting the increasing needs. Vast expansion plans are in the mill for Lockbourne Air Base, already one of the nation's largest.

The bill reported out of committee in Washington seeks to extend a law that expired in June, and the proposal is in line with a measure that Burke introduced on May 13. Only difference is that Burke's bill called for a two-year extension while the committee's measure would extend the provisions for three years.

Because of Burke's active interest in having the law extended, the committee has invited him to participate as co-sponsor of the measure reported out. Commenting on the committee's action, Burke said:

"It is a source of genuine pleasure for me, and I know it will be also for school officials and the communities of Ohio—and especially those of southern Ohio where so many communities are faced with serious problems in providing adequate school facilities for the increasing enrollments."

The bill reported out of committee now awaits action by the Senate and House of Representatives.

CINCINNATI (U)—A federal grand jury yesterday indicted on a charge of perjury Frank Cook, 41, of Cincinnati, who once denied attending a Communist meeting.

The bill reported out of committee now awaits action by the Senate and House of Representatives.

which has kept representatives of Communist government in South Korea.

The United States, Dulles said, would be sympathetic to seeing the commission wiped out.

Under Indian chairmanship its members are Sweden, Switzerland and two Communist governments, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Dulles said the nations which fought the Communists in Korea have discussed the possibility of ending the commission because of the activities of the Communist members.

Dulles said the situation respecting the armistice supervision is: In the north the Communist high command, under the armistice terms, is supposed to let members of the armistice commission—meaning the Swiss and Swede who are important to the U. N. command—see what goes on at ports of entry designated in the agreement.

However, they have circumvented the armistice agreement by moving materials through routes which use other ports of entry into Korea and they deny the Swiss and Swedes opportunity to visit such points.

Delay Urged In New Phone Standards

COLUMBUS (U)—Two attorneys representing eight independent telephone companies have asked the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio to delay putting scheduled phone standards into effect for six months.

The attorneys, John Brown and John R. Jones, spoke at a public hearing yesterday. It was held to discuss proposed minimum service standards in Ohio.

The commission wants a set of standards to measure phone service of various companies.

Some sections as now written would become effective in two years, other 10 days after filing with the secretary of state.

Brown represented the Lorain and Chillicothe telephone companies. Jones represented the Northern Ohio Telephone Co., Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co., General Telephone Co. of Ohio, and telephone companies in Warren, Elyria and Mansfield.

Brown said there might be a conflict between the standards and the Henderson Act. If the standards are violated, he said, under the Henderson Act, companies can not get permission to sell stock to make improvements.

The Henderson Act provides that when one telephone company fails to provide adequate service, another can take over the territory.

Strike Seen Spreading To More Airlines

NEW YORK (U)—A large segment of the nation's air transportation industry faced the threat of a spreading shutdown today.

A strike of some 1,200 American Airlines pilots went into its fourth day and 20,000 ground crew workers authorized a walkout against six other major airlines.

The new strike threat was directed against Capital, Eastern, National, Northwest, Trans World and United.

The National Mediation Board, moving swiftly to avert new walkouts, called in representatives of the AFL International Assn. of Machinists (IAM) and the six lines to meet in Washington today.

An IAM spokesman said there would be no strike on the six lines while the mediation board tries for a settlement.

The IAM is seeking a uniform wage on all airlines, asking a 5 per cent increase over present top classifications. This would give a mechanic, now paid $2.27 an hour, a rate of $2.38.

Meanwhile, Clarence N. Sayen, president of the striking AFL Air Line Pilots Assn., declined to comment on reports the pilots' strike may spread soon to United.

The strike against American is designed to force an eight-hour limit to a pilot's continuous flying time on nonstop transcontinental schedules.

6 Senators To Probe McCarthy

thored the 33 counts he read against McCarthy, said that "unless the special committee is very carefully selected it will end up either thoroughly intimidated or completely whitewashing McCarthy."

The committee describes itself as a group working for the election to Congress of "liberal" members of both major parties.

Flanders' charges included such accusations as that McCarthy permitted his investigations subcommittee staff to conduct itself in an "involuntary manner."

McCarthy challenged Flanders' charge that a member of the Investigations subcommittee staff had investigated Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.), one of the senators who took part in the McCarthy-Army hearings.

McCarthy said he had "no information in any way, shape or form that would indicate even remotely there could be any investigation of Sen. Jackson."

When Flanders acknowledged he got his information about the incident from a newspaper account, Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) said the Vermont was indulging in "the same things of which you accuse the senator from Wisconsin. I'm amazed."

"So am I," said Flanders and he added, "I am amazed that a senator with the experience of the senator from Indiana would pay no attention to what is in the newspapers."

Hereford Group Plans 1954 Tour

Members of the Pickaway Hereford Breeder's Association will gather at C. M. Maxson and Sons near Laurelville on Aug. 12 at 9 a. m. for the organization's annual summer tour of member breeding establishments.

Farms to be visited during the day, in addition to the host farm, will be those of:

Creager and Jones, of Circleville; R. N. Call, of Circleville; Mrs. A. E. Weidner and Son, of Lancaster; William Bope and Son, of Rushville; Glick and McDill, of Circleville, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth D. Blue and Son, of Circleville.

A sack lunch will be held at noon. Information relating to the tour can be obtained from Vaughn Grubb, secretary of the association.

Jackson Boy With National FFA Band

Byron Franklin Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Carter of Jackson Township, has received word that he has been selected as one of 10 boys to represent the Ohio Association of Future Farmers of America in the national FFA Band.

The band will furnish music at the national FFA convention at Kansas City Oct. 11 to 14. It will also play for the American Royal parade on Aug. 16.

Hillis Hall, vocational agriculture instructor at Jackson School, revealed that young Carter had recently returned from Camp Perry, where he represented the Pickaway County schools at Boy's State. Byron has been a member of the Fox FFA for the past three years, and represented the chapter on state livestock judging teams and the business procedure team. He has been a member of the Ohio FFA Band the past two years.

Injuries Kill Baby

Veteran GOP Congressman Faces Stiff Election Test

WASHINGTON (U-P)—A veteran congressman's fight for his political life today stood out in listless primarily elections in Michigan, Kansas, West Virginia and Missouri.

Rep. Dewey Short, Missouri Republican and chairman of the powerful House Armed Services Committee, faced a stiff challenge from State Sen. Noel Cox. Short, a House member for 22 years, was seen getting a boost, however, from yesterday's White House decision to extend federal drought aid to some southwest Missouri counties.

Otherwise, there were no major contests on the day's slate and light balloting was forecast.

Candidates for the U. S. Senate will be named in Kansas, Michigan and West Virginia, but no incumbents faced serious threats. And only 17 of the 41 House members seeking renomination in the four states had primary opposition.

ELECTION OF candidates for governor were on in Michigan and Kansas.

Senators Andrew F. Schoepel (R-Kan.) and Matthew Neely (D-W. Va.) did little campaigning against what they viewed as light opposition. Sen. Homer Ferguson of Michigan, chairman of the GOP called afterward that there "was nothing seriously wrong" with Sheppard, as determined by the examination. The chief said it did not include psychiatric tests.

Police Press Questioning Of Dr. Sheppard

The prisoner, whose attorney previously had barred a hospital check up, made no protest about the examination, Story said.

He added that Sheppard had complained of neck pains yesterday morning, and when jail officials asked for an examination, "we arranged to have it done by experts."

Called in by police were Dr. Spencer Braden, a police department neurosurgery consultant; Dr. Harry Slade, assistant neurosurgeon at City Hospital; Dr. Allyn W. Tramer, acting chief of orthopedic service there; and Dr. George P. Greene, police surgeon.

Meanwhile, strange-looking lights flickered at the sprawling suburban home where Sheppard's pregnant wife was found in her bed, clubbed to death by 25 bone-deep blows.

Crime experts, using infrared and ultra-violet lights, picked through the lakefront house seeking blood stains and other clues.

Sheppard had told police he was injured and knocked out twice in fights with his wife's murderer. Since then he has frequently worn a white leather and metal orthopedic collar.

7th District Candidate Said Quitting Race

COLUMBUS (U-P)—Reports that Charles West of Lebanon had resigned as Democratic nominee for Congress in the 7th District led to disclosure today that he is the only candidate failing to file a primary election expense statement with the secretary of state.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown's office said statute requires an expense statement before West can receive a certificate of nomination. Certificates of nomination are required by candidates in order to have their names on Nov. 2 election ballots.

Because ballots must be certified by Aug. 19, officials said they had tried to contact West three times by mail without success. The last letter to him on July 27 was returned for a "better address." It went by registered mail.

West, who formerly served as 17th District congressman in the Roosevelt era, seeks to represent the 7th District composed of Clinton, Warren, Logan, Union, Champaign, Clark, Madison and Greene counties. His Republican opponent is incumbent Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Blanchester.

Officials said candidates for elective state offices and congressional seats must file primary campaign expense statements with the secretary of state. Others file with county election boards.

Two Fishermen Drown In Mishap

ZANESVILLE (U-P)—Two young fishermen drowned early today when their plywood rowboat tipped over in the Muskingum River six miles south of here. A third swim about 75 feet to safety.

George Tharp, Jr., 26, of Roseville and William McGilton, 19, of Canfield drowned in more than 15 feet of water. William Ridenour, 20, of Somerset made it to shore and notified authorities who recovered the bodies. Ridenour said the boat, apparently topheavy, tipped when Tharp leaned out the front end to place a trotline in the water.

2 Defendants In Defiance Church Fuss Change Sides

DEFIANCE (U-P)—The lineup of contending parties in the St. Paul Methodist Church controversy here was changed somewhat today in court developments.

Two members of the church's official board, Mrs. Paul H. Underhill and Miss Gertrude Hoffman, filed answers in common pleas court asking to be made parties to pleas of the plaintiff.

They had been named along with 49 officers of the church and Joseph C. Richards, as defendants in an injunction suit filed by the board of trustees of the Methodist Church, District Supt. Kenneth S. Leary of Van Wert, and the Rev. Robert B. Weaver, pastor of the church.

The injunction, among other things, asked that the church's business manager and former pastor, Richards, and officer of the

School Aid Bill Awaiting Action; City Still Hopes To Get Funds

U. S. Senator Thomas A. Burke, Ohio's junior spokesman in the upper house, announced Tuesday that the Senate committee on labor and public welfare has reported a bill designed to aid school construction projects.

Progress of the legislation has been watched with particular interest here in view of the long-range building program recently outlined for the Circleville city school system. Early reports have been that Circleville would not be eligible to benefit by the bill's provisions, but a final decision on this point has yet to be made.

The bill reported out of committee by Burke would authorize a three-year extension of a law under which the federal government lends financial help to school construction in certain areas. To be eligible, an area has to be able to show a certain degree of "impact" from nearby federal activities—government installations, projects, and the like.

On this point, Circleville city school leaders have recently been given new hope that the "impact" of Lockbourne Air Base is sufficient to make the community eligible for aid.

Unofficial spokesmen for the air base expressed surprise when told the city had been notified it lacked enough "impact" from the gigantic air installation.

Canton Offering Comic Book Swap

CANTON (U-P)—To help rid Canton of objectionable comic books, the city for two days will swap a $1 book for any 10 crime and horror comic books.

"Operation Book Swap" will be held Sept. 6 and 7 at the Stark County Fair. After that, copies of the $1 books will be featured in downtown news stands in an effort to squeeze out the demand for the wrong kind of comics.

City Court Penalizes 17 Drivers For Various Traffic Accusations

Seventeen motorists paid their due in Municipal Court for violating various traffic laws. The fines included the following:

Kenneth S. Weaver, 30, of Circleville; $35 and costs for speeding at 85; arrested by State Patrolman Bob Greene.

Delmar Weaver Jr., 26, of Circleville; $35 and costs for speeding at 85; arrested by Greene.

Clifton L. Segee, 20, of Adelphi; $10 and costs for going through a stop sign; arrested by Greene.

which has kept representatives of Communist government in South Korea.

The United States, Dulles said, would be sympathetic to seeing the commission wiped out.

Under Indian chairmanship its members are Sweden, Switzerland and two Communist governments, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Dulles said the nations which fought the Communists in Korea have discussed the possibility of ending the commission because of the activities of the Communist members.

Dulles said the situation respecting the armistice supervision is: In the north the Communist high command, under the armistice terms, is supposed to let members of the armistice commission—meaning the Swiss and Swede who are important to the U. N. command—see what goes on at ports of entry designated in the agreement.

Delay Urged In New Phone Standards

COLUMBUS (U-P)—Two attorneys representing eight independent telephone companies have asked the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio to delay putting scheduled phone standards into effect for six months.

The attorneys, John Brown and John R. Jones, spoke at a public hearing yesterday. It was held to discuss proposed minimum service standards in Ohio.

The commission wants a set of standards to measure phone service of various companies.

Some sections as now written would become effective in two years, others 10 days after filing with the secretary of state.

Brown represented the Lorain and Chillicothe telephone companies. Jones represented the Northern Ohio Telephone Co., Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co., General Telephone Co. of Ohio, and telephone companies in Warren, Elyria and Mansfield.

Brown said there might be a conflict between the standards and the Henderson Act. If the standards are violated, he said, under the Henderson Act, companies can not get permission to sell stock to make improvements.

The Henderson Act provides that when one telephone company fails to provide adequate service, another can take over the territory.

Firms 'Study' Wives Of Their Salesmen Now

Survey Shows Women Find Mates Kept Away From Home Too Much
By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—You know about the farmer's daughter. But how about the salesman's wife?

The way she reacts to her husband's irregular hours, to those sudden calls out of town, to lead to tiffs at home. Unhappy home life can put a salesman in a most unselling frame of mind.

In this competitive era, perhaps companies are underestimating the power of the salesman's wife.

They may train the salesman carefully, yet undo it by failing to brief the wife on the nature of his work, the reason for irregular hours, the value of sales conferences ("they're more than just cocktail parties").

A poll of 13,513 salesman's wives across the land, made over a two-year period by the Research Institute of America, shows them picking the salesman's job as the most frustrating. Only 9 per cent of them would advise their sons to follow in their dad's footsteps.

As for that gambit about the farmer's daughter, the usual comment by the salesman's wives is: "Out-dated, unfair, boring — the profession has been worn out with jokes."

Many wives complain about long separations and say: "Have him near home at least one week a month." One adds: "We can't afford two cars and when he is on road, I'm stranded."

Of life with the salesman at home, the wives offer this common complaint: "The crush of paper work at night takes time that should be spent with his family."

A third of the wives ask for better cooperation and understanding of their husband's work by his employers. One out of eight plugs for better merchandise delivery and improved service—perhaps echoing gripes they heard from their spouses.

Quite a number ask for sales help in the form of more advertising.

Some wives want to go along on the selling trips. Many ask to be included in the serious sessions of a sales conference. One notes that at the home office, "Secretaries are included in social functions but never the wives."

The wives rate their husbands' job in comparison with other kinds of work this way: The greatest number choose engineering work as providing the most security—and newspaper reporting as the most interesting (but they gave it a security rating of exactly zero). They credit salesmanship with paying the most money and giving the highest rewards in accordance with ability and efforts.

More than half of the wives think salesmen encounter discouraging experiences more often than other employees. Less than half would like to see their husbands spend the rest of their lives selling.

They rank opportunity for advancement as the most important thing about a job, security as second. The younger ones dislike the uncertainty of income from commissions — the older ones say it averages out okay.

One third of the wives declare their husband's success is due to his selling ability; another fourth credit it to his hard work. Only 3 per cent think the reputation of his company has anything to do with it.

What should companies do for better salesman relations?

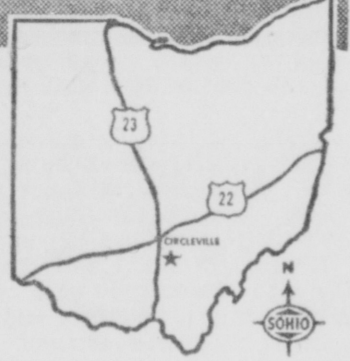

"Stop the intelligence - insulting sales pep talks," one wife urges. "Take sales out of the realm of mumbo-jumbo and the fast shuffle."

Another has a quick solution: "Fire three-fourths of all the bosses and start over."

Let's Explore Ohio

More than 44,000 people visited the Logan Elm Park last year as they followed the pathways of history through this State. This huge tree is a living tie with Ohio's past, for it was under these spreading branches that Indian Chief Logan delivered his famous speech which was recorded by John Gibson in 1775, a year before the American Revolutionary War, and which gained world-wide fame as one of the most eloquent statements by any of the former inhabitants of the Ohio Country. The Logan speech is recorded on a monument tablet at the Logan Elm. This tree stands in a five-acre park maintained by the Ohio Historical Society and many Ohio families use the picnic facilities in this historic park, which is about seven miles south of Circleville off Routes 23 and 361.

Here Is How Ohio's Solons Cast Ballots

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here is how Ohio members of Congress were recorded as voting on recent roll-calls:

SENATE—On rejection of motion to limit debate on atomic energy bill: Burke (D), against; Bricker (R), not voting.

On rejection of amendment to same bill to eliminate all provisions for private development of atomic power: Burke, for; Bricker, not voting.

On passage of atomic energy act: Burke, for; Bricker, not voting.

On passage of compromise housing bill: Bricker, for; Burke, against.

On passage of compromise bill revising tax laws: Bricker and Burke, for.

HOUSE—On passage of atomic energy act: Scherer, Hess, Schenck, McCulloch, Clevenger, Brown, Betts, Jenkins, Oliver P. Bolton, Vorys, Ayres, Bow, McGregor and Bender (all Republicans), for; Polk, Hays, Kirwan, Feighan and Cresser (all Democrats) and Reams (Ind), against; Secrest (D), Weichel (R) and Frances Bolton (R), not voting.

On passage of $5,208,419,979 appropriation bill to finance foreign aid program through June 30, 1955: Hess, Polk, Reams, Jenkins, Oliver P. Bolton, Vorys, Ayres, Hays, Kirwan, Feighan, Cresser, Frances P. Bolton and Bender, for; Scherer, Schenck, McCulloch, Clevenger, Brown, Betts, Bow and McGregor, against; Weichel and Secrest, not voting.

McClellan Wins Arkansas Primary

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Sen. John L. McClellan has won the Democratic nomination for re-election by a 4,056-vote majority, a certified vote count shows.

Democratic nominees are virtually assured of election in Arkansas.

William P. Bowen, secretary for the Democratic Central Committee, gave these figures for the senatorial race: McClellan, 164,905; former Gov. Sid McMath, 126,172; Paul Chambers, 31,286; Leonard Ellis, 3,391. Thus, McClellan's three foes polled a total of 160,849.

PUCO Airing Plan To Hike Phone Service

COLUMBUS (AP)—Public Utilities Commission of Ohio proposals that would set minimum standards for telephone service got an airing at a public hearing Monday.

If adopted and carried out, the recommended standards for the first time will give the commission a "yardstick" by which it can tell whether service of any company is up to par.

Commissioner Ralph Winter, who spent much time with telephone company executives working on the proposals, said they are designed to simplify handling of service complaints.

The standards in value such things as adequate equipment, maintenance and repair, adequate personnel and records, delayed calls, service interruptions and applications and transmission lines.

The more than 170 telephone companies would be required to adopt the standards, with some not going into effect for two years.

A commission spokesman said there have been few written objections to the proposals. When the suggested standards were announced, the Ohio Independent Telephone Assn. hailed them as being helpful both to the industry and subscribers.

The commission worked closely with the association in drawing up the proposals.

His Cautiousness Leads To Arrest

DETROIT (AP)—Starling Mack, 20, told Traffic Judge George T. Murphy he was trying to stay out of trouble last Saturday when Detroit police arrested him on a city free way.

Mack's drivers license was revoked for 90 days July 21 after a minor accident.

Explaining his arrest, he said:

"I knew if I drove that I might get into trouble and be sent to jail for not having a license. I thought I'd play it safe and go real slow."

He was arrested for going too slow—35 miles an hour in a 55-mile zone on the John Lodge Expressway.

Noting a previous record of seven violations in the last year, Judge Murphy gave him 10 days in jail.

The Hopi Indians are the only tribe of Indians in North America where the men practice weaving.

Pigeon Fancier Going To Court

BOSTON (AP)—Fang Wong, 55, and three pigeons are due in Municipal Court today.

Wong is accused of violating park rules on the Boston Common. Police said the pigeons would be used as evidence.

Police said Wong, armed with a handful of peanuts and a paper bag lured the pigeons with the peanuts, grabbed them and stuffed them into the bag.

Wong had three pigeons in the bag and was trying for a fourth when arrested, police said.

A policeman said he was at a loss to explain why anybody would want the pigeons.

Sioux Horse Tried For Murder Under Part Of Old Indian Code

By HAL BOYLE

PINE RIDGE, S. D. (AP)—Did you ever hear of a horse being tried for murder?

Jake Herman can recall such an incident in his boyhood on the Pine Ridge reservation here, home of more than 11,000 Oglala Sioux Indians.

"The horse was sentenced to die because he killed my brother," he said.

Jake, who is a member of the executive branch of the tribal council, is he says, "half Sioux and half wild Irish rose—a pretty bad mixture."

He knows the philosophy and political outlook of both the Indian and the white man, and is at home in the culture of either. He went to Carlisle Indian College as a third grade grammar school student at the age of 20, and played right halfback there for three years. Later he tramped around the country for more than 20 years as a Wild West show trick rider and rodeo clown. Then he came back and settled down to ranching on No-Flesh Creek near Kyle, S. D.

Tanned and leathery, at 64, he still has the slim grace of a teenage cowboy. He loves most to talk about his childhood such as the time his Indian grandmother handed him the raw heart of a turtle and told him if he ate it he would always be a brave man and a credit to his tribe.

"I ate it, all right; it tasted like liver, only tougher," he said, "but I turned out to be the biggest coward on earth."

In 1902 his father bought a black stallion from a trader. Turned loose on the range, it became vicious. One day the stallion dragged Jake's older brother, George, 18, from the saddle of another horse and kicked him to death.

"My father was very angry," Jake said. "He butchered some cattle, called in the tribe for a feast, and announced he was going to kill the stallion."

"But the tribal chiefs said no, he couldn't do that. The horse had to be given a fair trial. So they picked a jury of seven men to try the stallion."

On what grounds could human beings try an animal? Well, under the old Sioux code there were four great recognized disasters: (1) no food for the tribe; (2) losing an oldest son; (3) the lonely night wailing of a baby that has lost its mother; (4) the return of a brave from a war party with the news that he is the only survivor.

"The jury decided they could try the stallion for violating the second point in the code by causing the death of my oldest brother," said Jake. "They condemned him unanimously. Then they picked the Indian with the worst reputation in the tribe for being cruel to animals and ordered him to ride the stallion to death."

"He rode the stallion as hard as he could for two months but couldn't kill him. Then the jury gave him to another Indian who worked him until he could no longer move. He staked out the stallion, and it finally fell over dead."

"My father then butchered more cattle, called in the tribe again, and held a great celebration feast. He felt my brother had been avenged. It was regarded as simple justice."

Return Of Earnings Asked In Divorce

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Mrs. Florence L. Windisch, in what her lawyer calls a "new approach to the problem of working wives," yesterday filed an amended divorce petition asking her husband to repay the $14,527 she earned as a secretary during their marriage.

She charged her earnings during the marriage "were appropriated by her husband and were used and controlled by him" although she never agreed to such action in writing.

Milton S. Napier, her attorney, said he is proceeding under the Missouri Married Women's Act, which provides a husband may use his wife's earnings only if she has agreed to it in writing.

Firms 'Study' Wives Of Their Salesmen Now

Survey Shows Women Find Mates Kept Away From Home Too Much
By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—You know about the farmer's daughter. But how about the salesman's wife?

The way she reacts to her husband's irregular hours, to those sudden calls out of town, can lead to tiffs at home. Unhappy home life can put a salesman in a most unselling frame of mind.

In this competitive era, perhaps companies are underestimating the power of the salesman's wife.

They may train the salesman carefully, yet undo it by failing to brief the wife on the nature of his work, the reason for irregular hours, the value of sales conferences ("they're more than just cocktail parties").

A poll of 13,513 salesmen's wives across the land, made over two-year period by the Research Institute of America, shows them picking the salesman's job as the most frustrating. Only 9 per cent of them would advise their sons to follow in their dad's footsteps.

As for that gambit about the farmer's daughter, the usual comment by the salesmen's wives is: "Out-dated, unfair, boring — the profession has been worn out with jokes."

Many wives complain about long separations and say: "Have him near home at least one week a month." One adds: "We can't afford two cars and when he is on road, I'm stranded."

Of life with the salesman at home, the wives offer this common complaint: "The crush of paper work at night takes time that should be spent with his family."

GHASTLY WEAPON

IT WAS NO secret during World War II that the Japanese were using opium and other drugs to weaken resistance. Now comes Harry J. Anslinger, United States Commissioner of Narcotics, with the charge that Asian reds are using heroin to spread drug addiction to a substantial number of American troops in Korea and Japan.

The United States and 35 other nations have signed a proposed agreement reducing world opium production from 2,000 tons annually to the 500 tons required for medical use. The weakness is that the Communists have no intention of relinquishing this ghastly weapon.

This sort of fiendishness fits in with "brain-washing" and other inhuman methods the reds employ to bend the individual to their will. This is callousness to human life and individual rights which the West can hardly understand. To break the human spirit for a doctrinaire advantage is something out of the pages of the Dark Ages. But it is a factor which the West must deal with.

When he was asked if the drug situation is now under control, Anslinger said it is not but that the armed forces are doing their best. This is a fight which requires the backing and encouragement of the home front.

PRICE OF FAME

SHAKESPEARE'S immortal lines, "All the world's a stage, and all the men and women merely players," have no greater applicability than to the lives of five young women living in a small town in Ontario. Since they drew their first breath 20 years ago the Dionne quintuplets have lived in the public glare, regardless of the diligence with which their parents and the Canadian government have sought to help them lead normal lives.

The tragedy of an open-book existence is that nothing, even of a private nature, is sacred. This was brought home in the publicity attending Marie Dionne's decision to discontinue her convent studies. Not until the Dionne quintuplets ran the gamut of a full-dress press conference was the curiosity satiated.

But more than mere curiosity is involved. People the world over, and especially in the United States, are deeply interested in the lives of these five young women. That being the case, whatever they do is news.

The Dionnes have born up amazingly well, all things considered. If it were possible they would do ever better if left alone. But that can never be.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas, Democratic leader of the Senate, in supporting Senator William Knowland, Republican leader, raised the very serious question of the legitimate objectives of the United States. These have never been clearly defined in terms understandable to the American people. What are we after? What do we want? When we ask a European power to be our ally, what program do we present to that nation?

Senator Johnson said: "We shall soon have before us a 3-1/2 billion dollar foreign aid bill. It is no secret that many people have very serious reservations about this measure. They want to know the extent to which this aid will actually support the legitimate objectives of the U. S., and the extent to which it will maintain policies which no longer have vitality.

"Certainly, before the measure finally clears the Senate there will be a definite insistence upon assurances that some of the nations to which aid will go will have to put their own houses in order."

Further, Senator Johnson said: "There are certain factors which must be taken into consideration.

"First, the American people want no appeasement of the Communists.

"Second, the American people will refuse to support the United Nations if Communist China becomes a member.

"Third, the American people have become very uneasy over the intentions and objectives of our allies."

While these statements are important, they do not state the legitimate objectives of the United States. They tell us what we ought to do if we are again defeated at the diplomatic table, but unless our national program is clear and understandable, we are bound to be defeated again as we have been at every conference since Teheran in 1943 and Yalta in 1945. Senator Wayne Morse made this point in reply to Senator Johnson:

"We do not like to have it said about us, but the fact remains that throughout Asia today we are feared. We do not like to have it said about us, but the fact remains that in many allied countries there is a mounting opinion that what the United States will insist upon is that either its way be followed or the world will be involved in war. That is a wrong opinion of our country."

The truth is not quite as Senator Morse said it. We are feared in Asia because we have been defeated in Asia. For an Asiatic, it is impossible to believe that so great and mighty a country as the United States will accept defeat in Korea and Indochina without taking some steps to defend its dignity and protect its prestige. Therefore, Asia, particularly India, expects that the United States will stage a come-back in Asia and as Nehru stated in his welcome to Chou En-lai, India wants peace—peace at any price.

As for the European countries that have gone neutralist, Senator Morse again does not appear to understand the psychological and moral effect of our defeat in Korea. Every country in Europe was forced to revise its position after that defeat; it was forced to wonder whether it was safe to be allied to the United States.

CHAPTER ONE

WE BEGAN closing in just before 7 o'clock. The young policeman beside me bent low to keep behind a board fence that enclosed the back yard. His shoes crunched softly on the frozen snow. In the heavy dusk of the winter evening I caught only a brief glimmer of reflected light from his flashlight. He drew his revolver and raised the gate latch.

I dipped my hand inside my overcoat and hauled my .38 out. Then I followed the young cop into the yard. Behind me a policeman shifted his feet impatiently. Then he was quiet and we waited for the whistle to blow.

At the front of the house someone stamped up three steps, walked forward with no caution. Then a bare fist rapped sharply at the front door. That would be Mackey, I thought, the nam-handed lieutenant from the robbery detail.

As far as we knew only one man was inside the house. For a long, tense moment, nothing happened. Mackey would be moving men closer to the sides of the house to block all the exits. Then a gun cracked near the front door. I rose slightly to get a clear view and then waited. It might only be Mackey shooting off the door lock. Two more shots were fired in swift succession.

The kitchen door opened and I saw a young, strained face in the moment before the light went out. That was Charles Alexander Stewart, former assistant bank cashier. A fine-looking young man. Everyone liked him. That's why he had been able to steal $200,000.

Stewart left the door open, took one timid step on to the back porch. The young cop jumped out to face him, his pistol lowered into mine as he shouted for Stewart to surrender.

Stewart didn't bother aiming. He fired wildly from the hip, a crackling burst of three shots. The young cop never fired at all. He crumpled to the ground and Stewart leaped from the porch and headed straight for me.

"Stop right there!" I yelled. When he kept running, I fired once, aiming low, trying to get a leg. I got nothing. Stewart squeezed off all the rounds left in his pistol, shooting at shadows, not able to see more than the flash of my gun.

And he hit me. The small-caliber slug caught me almost at the tip of my left shoulder, spun me in a tight circle and knocked me off my feet. My skull cracked against an incinerator and rang like the city hall chimes.

Five weeks and three operations later, all the bone chips and splinters had been cleared away. A two-inch span of my collar-bone was metal now. Eventually, it would function well enough, but not for another few months. And even then I might need some more.

whittling before the joint rotated smoothly. As I looked out my window I saw a familiar scene. It was February now and the deep snow topping the hospital's brick boundary wall was a dingy gray from the constant snow. Beyond the wall was the wide dirty Philadelphia street, still paved with brick as it had been for 100 years.

On the table next to my bed, my little telephone purred, and I got up unsteadily from my chair, took the three steps that let me sit on the bed and picked up the phone.

"Your office calling, Mr. Wilde," the operator said. Then I heard Penn Maxwell's voice saying: "Hello, that you, Carney?"

"Yes," I said. "What is it?" "How do you feel, boss?"

"Rotten."

"Can I come and see you?" I said. "Come ahead, but make it fast. I won't be here long."

"Ten minutes," Maxwell said. "Thanks, boss."

I hung up, wondering what Maxwell was thanking me for. He'd been working for me nearly three years now and he'd been calling me at the hospital almost every day for the past month.

I got back to my chair, and when the door opened softly behind me, I didn't look around. I picked up my cigarettes, juggled the pack to make one stand up and then reached for it with my mouth.

I was fumbling for my lighter when a match flared behind my head. It moved around and I leaned forward to light my cigarette, seeing the big heavy man out of the corner of my eye. He blew out the match, placed it tidily on the smoking stand and sat in the other chair, peeling back his overcoat but not taking it off.

"Cold day, captain?" I asked him.

Capt. Grodnik shrugged and then grinned with that wide, snaggle-toothed grin that always gets a response from me. He seemed larger than usual in his black overcoat. He took off his gray felt hat. No matter what he wore, Capt. Grodnik was a cop and he looked it every minute. Maybe the eyes gave him away, those pale, gold-flecked eyes that were so much more watchful than most. His head was large and almost entirely bald. Without his hat he looked rather like an amiable fat man and he was willing to let you think so.

It took a second glance to see the disciplined mouth, the big steady jaws and always those watchful, unblinking eyes.

"I stopped in the surgeon's office," he said. "He was telling his girl to get your bill ready."

I said: "I was just sitting here getting up energy enough to get dressed."

Capt. Grodnik stood briefly, took off his thick coat and tossed it on my bed. He balanced his hat on the window sill, fished out a cheap black cigar and lit it.

"Where," he said, "do you go from here?"

"Home," I said mildly. "Apartment. Office. I've still got a business, I think."

"Lost any clients yet?" he asked. "That's a good question, captain," I said tightly. "It's a good joke, too, isn't it?"

"Not to me," he said. There was a long moment's silence before the cramp left my clenched fingers, before the angry tension eased away. I nodded.

Grodnik spoke around his cigar. "I went to school with a man named Mort Metzger," he said. "We see each other sometimes. I had lunch with him last week. Then after lunch I called up Eli Jonas and had a little talk with him."

I nodded, not trusting my voice. Mort Metzger was one of the members of the Department Store association. And old Eli Jonas was president. He was also my sponsor. Because of Eli, I had sewed up the entire association on a contract for security policing of all the stores. Eli had thought he owed me a favor and the contract was his way of paying off. Because of him, I had all the work my detective agency could handle, even with 12 full-time operatives. But because of Mr. Charles Alexander Stewart, I was in a spot that nobody could envy.

"Mort said his people wouldn't renew your contract," Grodnik went on. "But Mr. Jonas seemed to think that the membership might feel differently next June when they have to decide."

"They won't," I said flatly.

Grodnik nodded. "I think you're right. They won't. Unless you do something."

I locked both hands over my knee and squeezed hard, feeling a stabbing pain in my left shoulder and paying no attention to it. "I've thought of that, too," I said. "I've also thought that Stewart was assistant cashier in the Jonas bank. It isn't much of a bank; it doesn't have a lot of depositors, just the store itself and the credit union and some employees. But it's still a bank with deposits insured by the Federal Reserve board or whoever does it, and that means the FBI takes care of it. I'd like to find Stewart and bring him in. But I can't compete with the FBI. And even if I had a line to go on—which I haven't—I don't think J. Edgar Hoover's boys would let me make a move. They'd freeze me out."

Grodnik nodded. "That's fine," he said. "But you forgot something."

I waited for him to tell me. "That young cop who was out back of that house with you," Grodnik said. "Pete Fontana. He was killed. That makes Stewart a murderer and I want him. Murder outranks any bank robbery. I don't think the FBI would argue that."

"How does that get me into the chase?" I asked.

Coronary Heart Attacks

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

IF the patient who has a coronary heart attack lives through his first attack and the two crucial months that follow, it is believed he has a good chance, in many cases, to live another eight years or more.

The most common type of heart attack that occurs in middle age and old age is the coronary heart attack. In this type of heart condition, a clot forms in the coronary artery that supplies the heart. Blood cannot get to the muscular tissue of the heart and, therefore, part of the muscle dies.

Many people die with their first coronary attack. The most dangerous period is during the first two months following the attack. Recent statistics have shown that the average life span for a person surviving these first two months is eight years.

Young people have a better survival chance. The presence of diabetes or high blood pressure lessens the chances of surviving.

Extremely heavy people have a greater tendency toward coronary heart attacks.

Warning Symptoms

A warning of a future heart attack comes, as a rule, with the symptoms of angina. With effort, strain or emotional upset, angina brings severe pain going down the left arm and above the heart. The patient becomes very pale. However, he will usually live longer than the patient who does not have these symptoms prior to an attack.

Of course, all such persons should be under the constant care of their physicians.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

news behind the news

Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of articles on Egypt Ray Tucker will write from that country.

CAIRO — The United States Navy has succeeded in bottling up for more than a year a story of American humanitarianism which would—if it had become known generally—have created more good will throughout the Arab lands than several millions of "Stassen money," as foreign aid funds are called here.

The hatcheck girl at the Hotel Semiramis knows of it, but Arabians and Americans generally do not. And it took a trip to Cairo for six hard-working Washington newspaper correspondents to learn of it.

Om Kalsoum, the first name meaning "mother" in Arabian, is not ven a name to Americans. But, although she is 45 years old and not especially beautiful, she is a legendary figure in every Arabian land, from Algiers to Indochina.

A singer of rare quality and personality, she commands from $1,500 to $3,000 for a personal or radio performance. And, although television is still to be introduced here on the American scale, every bazaar blares out her radio message or music.

POPULARITY —Om Kalsoum, in short, is a combination to the Arab audience of Bing Crosby, Jack Benny, Rosemary Clooney and even Willie Mays. She is beloved as a gal who brightens their drab lives with her singing, especially of foreign and classical pieces. She brings the unknown and outside world into their desert tents and Cairo hovels, to the rulers and the ruled alike.

Several years ago, Om Kalsoum became stricken with a thyroid ailment that threatened to end her career. Her illness was the inspiration for the same sort of tragic stories that accompanied the retirement of some American athletic stars.

The ousting of King Farouk, the great lover boy, did not cause half the journalistic fanfare that Om Kalsoum's attack did. The newspapers from here to Calcutta bordered their reports of her suffering with black, mourning lines.

The musical "mother" tried every noted physician, clinic and hospital in Europe and the Middle East, but to no avail. They could neither diagnose nor cure her peculiar form of disease.

Through Jefferson Caffrey, our ambassador to Egypt, and one of the ablest diplomats in the service, Om Kalsoum was transported by the Navy to the skyscraper hospital at Bethesda, Maryland, which F. D. R. himself designed in a broad and general way.

CURED — Om Kalsoum was cured completely by America's finest physicians, private and governmental. She is back again in the singing business, and at the moment is chorusing her way through India. Her friends inform me that she usually winds up her program by singing The Star Spangled Banner, which the people here think to be a sort of a church chant. They like it.

But not a word of this apparent miracle would the Navy permit to be published. Our friends in the Arab world, diplomats and newspapermen, tried to obtain its publication for the effect it would have on so many key nations in the cold war, but the bureaucrats at the Pentagon refused.

Their explanation was that Congress would protest against the spending of this money on an Egyptian "It" girl, even though she is a sort of theatrical saint to hundreds of millions—the cost could not have exceeded $2,000. Om Kalsoum happens to be extremely wealthy. She could probably buy and sell some of America's popular singers, especially as she is probably a smarter trader. All Egyptians excel in that line!

Our diplomats and our politicians, with few exceptions like Caffrey, as I tried to make clear in an earlier article from Cairo, just do not seem to understand the psychology of the numerous nations and peoples we are wooing, and I refer specifically here to Asians and Orientals.

Not to know them well is to keep ourselves unknown and misunderstood. And I am sorry to say, we are both unknown and misunderstood.

GHASTLY WEAPON

IT WAS NO secret during World War II that the Japanese were using opium and other drugs to weaken resistance. Now comes Harry J. Anslinger, United States Commissioner of Narcotics, with the charge that Asian Reds are using heroin to spread drug addiction to a substantial number of American troops in Korea and Japan.

The United States and 35 other nations have signed a proposed agreement reducing world opium production from 2,000 tons annually to the 500 tons required for medical use. The weakness is that the Communists have no intention of relinquishing this ghastly weapon.

This sort of fiendishness fits in with "brain-washing" and other inhuman methods the Reds employ to bend the individual to their will. This is callousness to human life and individual rights which the West can hardly understand. To break the human spirit for a doctrinaire advantage is something out of the pages of the Dark Ages. But it is a factor which the West must deal with.

When he was asked if the drug situation is now under control, Anslinger said it is not but that the armed forces are doing their best. This is a fight which requires the backing and encouragement of the home front.

PRICE OF FAME

SHAKESPEARE'S immortal lines, "All the world's a stage, and all the men and women merely players," have no greater applicability than to the lives of five young women living in a small town in Ontario. Since they drew their first breath 20 years ago the Dionne quintuplets have lived in the public glare, regardless of the diligence with which their parents and the Canadian government have sought to help them lead normal lives.

The tragedy of an open-book existence is that nothing, even of a private nature, is sacred. This was brought home in the publicity attending Marie Dionne's decision to discontinue her convent studies. Not until the Dionne quintuplets ran the gamut of a full-dress press conference was the curiosity satiated.

But more than mere curiosity is involved. People the world over, and especially in the United States, are deeply interested in the lives of these five young women. That being the case, whatever they do is news.

The Dionnes have born up amazingly well, all things considered. If it were possible they would do ever better if left alone. But that can never be.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas, Democratic leader of the Senate, in supporting Senator William Knowland, Republican leader, raised the very serious question of the legitimate objectives of the United States. These have never been clearly defined in terms understandable to the American people. What are we after? What do we want? When we ask a European power to be our ally, what program do we present to that nation?

Senator Johnson said: "We shall soon have before us a 3-1/2 billion dollar foreign aid bill. It is no secret that many people have very serious reservations about this measure. They want to know the extent to which this aid will actually support the legitimate objectives of the U. S., and the extent to which it will maintain policies which no longer have vitality.

"Certainly, before the measure finally clears the Senate there will be a definite insistence upon assurances that some of the nations to which aid will go will have to put their own houses in order."

Further, Senator Johnson said: "There are certain factors which must be taken into consideration.

"First, the American people want no appeasement of the Communists.

"Second, the American people will refuse to support the United Nations if Communist China becomes a member.

"Third, the American people have become very uneasy over the intentions and objectives of our allies."

While these statements are important, they do not state the legitimate objectives of the United States. They tell us what we ought to do if we are again defeated at the diplomatic table, but unless our national program is clear and understandable, we are bound to be defeated again as we have been at every conference since Teheran in 1943 and Yalta in 1945. Senator Wayne Morse made this point in reply to Senator Johnson:

"We do not like to have it said about us, but the fact remains that throughout Asia today we are feared. We do not like to have it said about us, but the fact remains that in many allied countries there is a mounting opinion that what the United States will insist upon is that either its way be followed or the world will be involved in war. That is a wrong opinion of our country."

The truth is not quite as Senator Morse said it. We are feared in Asia because we have been defeated in Asia. For an Asiatic, it is impossible to believe that so great and mighty a country as the United States will accept defeat in Korea and Indochina without taking some steps to defend its dignity and protect its prestige. Therefore, Asia, particularly India, expects that the United States will stage a come-back in Asia and as Nehru stated in his welcome to Chou En-lai, India wants peace—peace at any price.

As for the European countries that have gone neutralist, Senator Morse again does not appear to understand the psychological and moral effect of our defeat in Korea. Every country in Europe was forced to revise its position after that defeat; it was forced to wonder whether it was safe to be allied to the United States.

Grodnik spoke around his cigar. "I went to school with a man named Mort Metzger," he said. "We see each other sometimes. I had lunch with him last week. Then after lunch I called up Eli Jonas and had a little talk with him."

I nodded, not trusting my voice. Mort Metzger was one of the members of the Department Store association. And old Eli Jonas was president. He was also my sponsor. Because of Eli, I had sewed up the entire association on a contract for security policing of all the stores. Eli had thought he owed me a favor and the contract was his way of paying off. Because of him, I had all the work my detective agency could handle, even with 12 full-time operatives.

But because of Mr. Charles Alexander Stewart, I was in a spot that nobody could envy.

"Mort said his people wouldn't renew your contract," Grodnik went on. "But Mr. Jonas seemed to think that the membership might feel differently next June when they have to decide."

"They won't," I said flatly.

Grodnik nodded. "I think you're right. They won't. Unless you do something."

I looked both hands over my knee and squeezed hard, feeling a stabbing pain in my left shoulder and paying no attention to it.

"I've thought of that, too," I said. "I've also thought that Stewart was assistant cashier in the Jonas bank. It isn't much of a bank; it doesn't have a lot of depositors, just the store itself and the credit union and some employees. But it's still a bank with deposits insured by the Federal Reserve board or whoever does it, and that means the FBI takes care of it. I'd like to find Stewart and bring him in. But I can't compete with the FBI. And even if I had a line to go on—which I haven't—I don't think J. Edgar Hoover's boys would let me make a move. They'd freeze me out."

Grodnik nodded. "That's fine," he said. "But you forgot something."

I waited for him to tell me.

"That young cop who was out back of that house with you," Grodnik said. "Pete Fontana. He was killed. That makes Stewart a murderer and I want him. Murder outranks any bank robbery. I don't think the FBI would argue that."

"How does that get me into the chase?" I asked.

Coronary Heart Attacks

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

IF the patient who has a coronary heart attack lives through his first attack and the two crucial months that follow, it is believed he has a good chance, in many cases, to live another eight years or more.

The most common type of heart attack that occurs in middle age and old age is the coronary heart attack. In this type of heart condition, a clot forms in the coronary artery that supplies the heart. Blood cannot get to the muscular tissue of the heart and, therefore, part of the muscle dies.

Many people die with their first coronary attack. The most dangerous period is during the first two months following the attack. Recent statistics have shown that the average life span for a person surviving these first two months is eight years.

Young people have a better survival chance. The presence of diabetes or high blood pressure lessens the chances of surviving.

Extremely heavy people have a greater tendency toward coronary heart attacks.

Warning Symptoms

A warning of a future heart attack comes, as a rule, with the symptoms of angina. With effort, strain or emotional upset, angina brings severe pain going down the left arm and above the heart. The patient becomes very pale. However, he will usually live longer than the patient who does not have these symptoms prior to an attack.

Of course, all such persons should be under the constant care of their physicians.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

J. F.: Could a person consume too great an amount of sugar substitutes, such as saccharine?

Answer: There is no evidence that taking sugar substitutes in the amounts usually needed to sweeten foods is dangerous in any way.

news behind the news

Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of articles on Egypt Ray Tucker will write from that country.

CAIRO — The United States Navy has succeeded in bottling up for more than a year a story of American humanitarianism which would—if it had become known generally—have created more good will throughout the Arab lands than several millions of "Stassen money," as foreign aid funds are called here.

The hatcheck girl at the Hotel Semiramis knows of it, but Arabians and Americans generally do not. And it took a trip to Cairo for six hard-working Washington newspaper correspondents to learn of it.

Om Kalsoum, the first name meaning "mother" in Arabian, is not a name to Americans. But, although she is 45 years old and not especially beautiful, she is a legendary figure in every Arabian land, from Algiers to Indochina.

A singer of rare quality and personality, she commands from $1,500 to $3,000 for a personal or radio performance. And, although television is still to be introduced here on the American scale, every bazaar blares out her radio message or music.

POPULARITY —Om Kalsoum, in short, is a combination to the Arab audience of Bing Crosby, Jack Benny, Rosemary Clooney and even Willie Mays. She is beloved as a gal who brightens their drab lives with her singing, especially of foreign and classical pieces. She brings the unknown and outside world into their desert tents and Cairo hovels, to the rulers and the ruled alike.

Several years ago, Om Kalsoum became stricken with a thyroid ailment that threatened to end her career. Her illness was the inspiration for the same sort of tragic stories that accompanied the retirement of some American athletic stars.

The ousting of King Farouk, the great lover boy, did not cause half the journalistic fanfare that Om Kalsoum's attack did. The newspapers from here to Calcutta bordered their reports of her suffering with black, mourning lines.

The musical "mother" tried every noted physician, clinic and hospital in Europe and the Middle East, but to no avail. They could neither diagnose nor cure her peculiar form of disease.

Through Jefferson Caffrey, our ambassador to Egypt, and one of the ablest diplomats in the service, Om Kalsoum was transported by the Navy to the skyscraper hospital at Bethesda, Maryland, which F. D. R. himself designed in a broad and general way.

CURED — Om Kalsoum was cured completely by America's finest physicians, private and governmental. She is back again in the singing business, and at the moment is chorusing her way through India. Her friends inform me that she usually winds up her program by singing The Star Spangled Banner, which the people here think to be a sort of a church chant. They like it.

But not a word of this apparent miracle would the Navy permit to be published. Our friends in the Arab world, diplomats and newspapermen, tried to obtain its publication for the effect it would have on so many key nations in the cold war, but the bureaucrats at the Pentagon refused.

Their explanation was that Congress would protest against the spending of this money on an Egyptian "It" girl, even though she is a sort of theatrical saint to hundreds of millions—the cost could not have exceeded $2,000. Om Kalsoum happens to be extremely wealthy. She could probably buy and sell some of America's popular singers, especially as she is probably a smarter trader. All Egyptians excel in that line!

Our diplomats and our politicians, with few exceptions like Caffrey, as I tried to make clear

U.S. Theater's 'Real Vigor' Said To Be In Rural America

YELLOW SPRINGS (AP)—All the real vigor of the U. S. theater is outside New York, the president of the American National Theater and Academy says.

Clarence Derwent, a veteran of the London and Broadway stages for more than 50 years, said the real growth and inspiration lies in the theaters of American colleges and universities.

He called Broadway sterile and stale. But he softened this criticism later in an interview in noting that some of its productions were of interest and had merit.

Derwent, a past president of the Actors' Equity Assn., is playing Shylock in the Antioch College Area Theater's presentation of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice."

"This is truly a great theater," he said. "It is a great experience for me. It takes me right back to Stratford-on-Avon."

Derwent, now 60, played Shylock's adversary, Antonio, at Stratford in 1904. A few years later he toured Europe as Shylock.

This grand man of the theater, who could command a weekly salary in the hundreds is doing a love's labor for $60, the minimum allowed by the actors' union in summer stock work.

Quick Beauty Pick-Up Will Restore Sparkle

Rush! Rush! Rush! That's what you've been doing all day. It's been one task after another. Just where has time gone?

You're ready to collapse in a heap. But look at that clock! Day's done and a big evening date is almost immediately in the offing. In the thirty minutes remaining, you have to forget you're tired and assume a gay, sparkling air and a pretty-as-a-picture appearance. It sounds impossible!

But it isn't, lady! You can give yourself a beauty pick-up that will have you looking and feeling like a new woman in short order.

First, fill the tub with warm water. Sprinkle in fragrant bubbles, salts or oil. Relax in your scented bath for a few minutes. Forget the busy day behind you.

Finish with a quick, cold shower that will bring a glow to your cheeks. Pat on dusting powder or body lotion.

Now, lie down for five minutes. Elevate feet. Cover eyes with cold compresses that have been dipped in eye lotion or good quality witch hazel. Breathe deeply and slowly. Make your mind a complete blank.

You'll feel fresh and ready for make-up magic after this rest routine.

Sitting before a well-lighted mirror, apply foundation to face and neck. Work in gently until it disappears. Fluff on a pinky powder to hide that gray, tired look. Place rouge high so it calls attention to eyes, makes them sparkle.

Before penciling eyebrows, groom them with a tiny brush. Treat lashes to colored mascara—blue or green is wonderful for after-dark.

Eye shadow's in order for the evening, too. Available in numerous shades including blue, green, purple even gold and silver, it plays up the color of your eyes.

When making up your lips, don't rush the job. Do it carefully. Use a brighter lipstick than the one you apply by day.

There you are freshened up, looking lovely!

The final touch is perfume, some light scent, such as lily of the valley, to make you feel truly feminine. Be sure to put a vial of the perfume in your purse, then you'll have fragrance wherever you go.

Quick Beauty Pick-Up Will Restore Sparkle

Rush! Rush! Rush! That's what you've been doing all day. It's been one task after another. Just where has time gone?

You're ready to collapse in a heap. But look at that clock! Day's done and a big evening date is almost immediately in the offing. In the thirty minutes remaining, you have to forget you're tired and assume a gay, sparkling air and a pretty-as-a-picture appearance. It sounds impossible!

But it isn't, lady! You can give yourself a beauty pick-up that will have you looking and feeling like a new woman in short order.

First, fill the tub with warm water. Sprinkle in fragrant bubbles, salts or oil. Relax in your scented bath for a few minutes. Forget the busy day behind you.

Finish with a quick, cold shower that will bring a glow to your cheeks. Pat on dusting powder or body lotion.

Now, lie down for five minutes. Elevate feet. Cover eyes with cold compresses that have been dipped in eye lotion or good quality witch hazel. Breathe deeply and slowly. Make your mind a complete blank. You'll feel fresh and ready for make-up magic after this rest routine.

Sitting before a well-lighted mirror, apply foundation to face and neck. Work in gently until it disappears. Fluff on a pinky powder to hide that gray, tired look. Place rouge high so it calls attention to eyes, makes them sparkle.

Before penciling eyebrows, groom them with a tiny brush. Treat lashes to colored mascara—blue or green is wonderful for after-dark.

Eye shadow's in order for the evening, too. Available in numerous shades including blue, green, purple even gold and silver, it plays up the color of your eyes.

When making up your lips, don't rush the job. Do it carefully. Use a brighter lipstick than the one you apply by day.

There you are freshened up, looking lovely! The final touch is perfume, some light scent, such as lily of the valley, to make you feel truly feminine. Be sure to put a vial of the perfume in your purse, then you'll have fragrance wherever you go.

Ike Signs New Housing Bill Into Law; Eases FHA Program

Bill Far Below What President Recommended

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower signed with evident satisfaction today a compromise housing bill which was high on his "must" list but markedly below his recommendations for further low-rent public housing.

He invited a large group of legislators and federal housing officials to watch the signing in his office, including Norman P. Mason, scheduled to take the oath as commissioner of the Federal Housing Administration after the Housing Act of 1954 becomes law.

The Senate completed congressional action on the bill last Wednesday night with a 69-21 roll call vote. The House had passed it 358-30 July 20.

The measure generally is designed to make it easier to buy homes and to modernize them. Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.), Banking Committee chairman who handled the legislation in the Senate, estimates it should boost home building by 10 to 20 per cent.

RONALD CHINNOCK, president of the National Assn. of Real Estate Boards, said the bill "will put home ownership within reach of many thousands of families that have not been able to own their homes in the past."

The one section of the measure differing notably from Eisenhower's request is the provision for 35,000 public housing units this fiscal year, provided this type of building is devoted only to families actually displaced by federal slum clearance work.

The President had asked authority for 140,000 units over the next four years, without restriction.

THE HOUSE originally voted for no public housing at all, then compromised on the restricted 35,000-unit figure at Senate and administration urging.

The new legislation also includes these changes, effective at once: Liberalizes down payment and repayment period requirements on homes bought with FHA-insured mortgages. For example, a house with an FHA-appraised value of $12,000 could have its down payment lowered from the present $2,400 to $1,200 if new and $1,650 if old.

Provides "safeguards designed to prevent extra-large 'windfall' profits by builders of government-backed apartment projects.

Contains a clause requiring lenders in the government-backed home repair loan program to take part of the risk on each loan made.

Permits the buyer of a government-insured home for the first time to take out an increased mortgage for the same terms as the first one if he decides to add improvements such as a wing or a bathroom to his house.

Clean your radiator thoroughly before painting it. Use a long-handled 1½ inch brush to paint the inside of the flutings first. Slide a stiff piece of paper under the radiator to protect the floor. To estimate the amount of paint you'll need, measure the front area of the radiator and multiply by seven.

Features: Design, Siding, Price

With good design, quality material and low cost combined in a new house, the home owner is assured of lasting value for his investment. This winning combination appears in the "Ranchaire," a six-room house built by Place Homes, Inc., South Bend, Ind., for $6,195. Contributing to the handsome appearance and low cost is the siding—four-foot-wide panels of Masonite Tempered Presdwood, punctuated with attractive battens. This siding gives rigidity to the house and a durable surface which takes a long-lasting paint job.

Refrigerator Buying Presents Many Problems To Be Solved

Do you know what to look for in a refrigerator? Many householders confronted with this problem for the first time find it puzzling. There are so many decisions to make — whether certain features are worth extra cost, how large a refrigerator is necessary for a particular household, whether to buy white or colored appliances.

The first decision is size. An 8 cubic foot refrigerator usually is recommended for a family of three, a 10 cubic foot refrigerator for a family of 5 and 11 to 15 cubic feet for households of about 8 persons.

A frozen food compartment is a great help to the woman who must plan food in advance, who has a husband and children who takes sandwiches for lunch, and who wishes to reduce food cost by careful quantity buying.

Homemakers who prefer fresh vegetables may favor a refrigerator equipped with a larger vegetable container or crisper. These are containers in which fruits, vegetables and other perishables may be stored without losing top quality.

SOME REFRIGERATOR models offer additional storage space on the inside of the door which helps expand the size of a refrigerator.

Check shelf accessibility. New models have shelves that roll-out. Others are of the "lazy Susan" type which do away with blind reaching or accidental spilling of stored foods.

Automatic defrosting units erase the task of defrosting requiring the removal of the contents of the refrigerator. Often a refrigerator takes so long to defrost that frozen foods are spoiled.

If you entertain often you will not only want a roomy refrigerator to hold the multitude of dishes you may make in advance, but you'll probably want a refrigerator that produces a large number of ice cubes rapidly. Newer refrigerators produce a batch of ice cubes in about 90 minutes. Some continue to make ice cubes automatically as they are removed from the tray.

There are many pastel colored kitchen appliances of porcelain enamel on the market. There are cheerful blues, green and yellows for a purchaser with an eye for color and design. But white is a best bet for long range planning. You can put all your color into kitchen accessories which may be changed when you grow tired of them.

Hardwood Floors Wax-Cleaned Often Protected Longer

Now the brightest floors are never washed, they are "dry cleaned" and waxed. This method is not only easier but it protects precious hardwood from the ravages of soap and water scrubbing.

For maximum beauty and protection hardwood floors should be thoroughly cleaned and waxed at least three or four times a year, depending upon the type of floor and amount of wear.

Because a tough, protective coat of wax keeps dust, dirt and grime from being ground into the finish, an occasional wiping or dusting with a dry, untreated (never oily) mop or rag will keep a waxed hardwood floor sparkling clean and attractive. Of course, hallways and other areas receiving unusually heavy traffic should be cleaned and waxed more often.

Luckily the cleaning and waxing method that is best for your floors is easier and faster for you, too. The entire job can be done in one operation with a wax-base cleaner that is completely waterless. It actually dry-cleans more thoroughly than old-fashioned soap and water scrubbing; at the same time it

Cedar Closets Ranked Among 'Wanted' Items

An old standby of American homemakers, the cedar closet, is making a strong comeback, observers of home building trends report.

In many communities it ranks among the "most wanted" features, right along with automatic dishwashers, garbage disposal units, air conditioning and other new-fangled inventions unknown in grandma's day.

More and more families having homes built to specifications are including one or more cedar closets in their plans. Many operative builders, too, are providing such closets as a means of sparking up the sales appeal of their houses.

Need Seasonal Storage The new wave of popularity for a feature whose moth-repellent property made it a favored item generations ago coincides with the current demand among home buyers for more adequate closet and storage space. Homemakers are insisting on at least one good, roomy closet where they can store seasonal clothing without fear of moth damage.

IN SOME of the better homes as many as five or six cedar closets are specified. Where this is the case, even closets intended for daily use often are lined with cedar. In such instances the cedar is selected as much for the glamor it imparts to a home as for its moth repellency.

Aroma Has Appeal The clean, refreshing fragrance of the wood carries a universal appeal, while the lovely grain pattern and rose-red and white coloring capture the fancy of everyone who appreciates the natural beauty of wood.

Women also are influenced in their choice by the fact that cedar closets require virtually no leaves a rich durable coat of fine wax.

SOAP AND WATER are synonymous with cleanliness for many people and for this reason many housewives persist in scrubbing their floors. This treatment will ruin the appearance of wood floors and may eventually cause serious warping, cracking and buckling that will end the floor's usefulness many years before it should be showing the slightest signs of wear. Self-polishing waxes are fine for asphalt and rubber tile and similar surfaces, but they should never be used on hardwood. On the average self-polishing waxes are 85 percent water and water from this source is just as injurious to hardwood as water from a scrub-bucket.

HERE'S HOW . . .

MAKE A GARDEN BENCH

A slat-topped garden bench or outdoor coffee table is an attractive addition to either the formal garden or the play area.

The top is made of ten 1 by 2-inch strips, each 60 inches long, fastened to two cleats of 1 by 4-inch lumber, each 16½ inches long. Use No. 6, 1½-inch wood screws for fastening. Slat are spaced 1-inch apart.

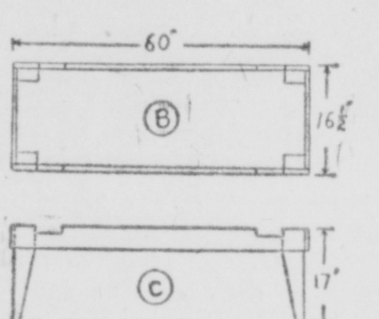

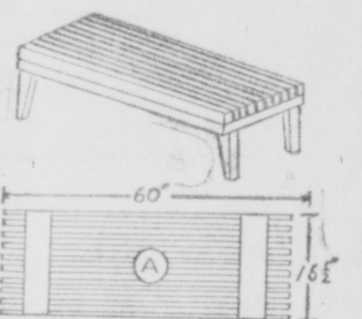

The legs are made from 2 by 4's—each 17 inches long, and tapered as shown in (C) to give a slanting effect.

Frame sides and ends are of 1 by 4-inch lumber, two pieces 60 inches long, and two pieces 15 inches long. These are bolted to the legs with ¾-inch bolts to provide a rigid frame (B).

Two cuts are made in each of the frame sides (C), into which the cleats on the under side of the bench top will fit. The cleats are fastened to the legs and frame with small angle-braces, thus freeing the top of any exposed hardware.

The bench should be sanded smooth, and all sharp edges rounded or beveled.

National Lumber Manufacturers Association

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy and three-alarm fires have one thing in common: you don't have much time to get bored with them. McCarthy now heads into the third investigation of him by fellow senators in three years. He's mixed up in the third one before the second one is finished.

This probably sets a record for the Senate. No one there in recent memory has taken up so much of the Senate's time. All three inquiries were forced on McCarthy by fellow senators.

But McCarthy, unlike a fire, hasn't been put out yet. At this moment no one can predict where the latest investigation will lead or how long it will last. Weeks, possibly months, more likely.

The first investigation of him—it took 18 months and ended Jan. 2, 1952, with a report which made no recommendations—was inspired by former Sen. Benton (D-Conn.), who accused McCarthy of various forms of misconduct. The committee which investigated McCarthy investigated Benton too.

This group was made up of two Democrats — Senators Hennings (Mo) and Hayden (Ariz)—and a Republican, Sen. Hendrickson (N.J.). While they made no recommendations against McCarthy, they accused him of deliberately trying to thwart their work, saying that six times he refused to testify before them. They criticized Benton too, but not for refusing to answer questions.

When Army officials last spring made charges against McCarthy and his staff, and when the senator responded with countercharges, the members of his own Senate Investigations subcommittee decided to look into the case. The public, televised hearings took weeks. That committee still hasn't made its report.

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) started McCarthy's latest troubles by demanding the Senate censure him. His accusations were more general than specific and it was decided to create a select committee to look into the various charges which other senators voiced in support of Flanders' move.

It had seemed around Washington a week ago that Flanders' proposal would be "tabled," which is a parliamentary device for shutting off debate and calling for an immediate vote. It seemed certain that the Senate would not vote censure and that if a vote were forced on a motion to table, McCarthy would win. Strangely, none of McCarthy's friends tried to force such a vote.

Since McCarthy wouldn't testify before Hennings' group, he might do the same in this latest inquiry. The Hennings group didn't try to force him, since he's a senator, and the select committee now might not try to force him to answer questions either if he stayed away.

Instead of staying away, he expressed great eagerness to cross-examine the senators who made these latest accusations against him. The select committee will

New Dependent Deductions Allowed By Revised Tax Law

Editor's Note: Following is another in a series of articles on the big new revised federal tax law and how it affects you.

By CHARLES F. BARRETT
WASHINGTON (AP)—If you support a child in college who works part time . . .

If you support someone in your home who is not a close relative . . .

If you share with several others in supporting a relative . . .

Then you probably will get a tax cut under the new, 1,000-page tax revision bill just passed by Congress.

The new measure sets out several more liberal rules for claiming dependents on your income tax returns. Each dependent entitles you to exempt $600 of your income from taxes. Each exemption thus means an actual tax cut of $120 if you're in the minimum 20 per cent bracket, more in the higher brackets.

Altogether, experts figure about 1,400,000 taxpayers will be able to claim additional dependents. The changes, effective this year, will show up in 1954 tax returns.

Under the old law you couldn't claim anyone as a dependent who made more than $600 income on his own during the year.

Under the new law, you can count children under 19 as dependents, regardless of their earnings, if you provide more than half their support.

And you can count children above 19 as dependents, regardless of their earnings, if they are in college. You still, of course, must provide more than half their support.

These provisions are designed to help many parents whose children work part time. Under the old law, it was a temptation for Dad to tell his boy to quit work as the boy's earnings approached $600 and Dad faced the loss of a dependent on his tax return.

Another new provision says this: In determining whether you provide half your child's support, you don't have to count as part of his income any scholarships he receives in college.

Full time on-the-farm training, if supervised by an educational institution or local government, can be counted as attending college.

Under the old law, you couldn't count anyone as a dependent who was not a close relative. Now you can count anyone as a dependent if he lives in your household and you provide more than half his support.

This is designed especially to apply to foster children, children in your home awaiting formal adoption, or others you support for any reason.

Harold E. Kerns, son of Doctor and Mrs. Vernon D. Kerns, of 234 N. Scioto St., who recently completed his junior year in advanced Air Force Reserve Officer Training at Ohio University, is attending four weeks of Summer training at the Strategic Air Command's Lockbourne Air Force Base. While in summer training, Cadet Kerns not only observes but actually participates in Air Force operations.

Following graduation from Ohio University, Cadet Kerns will be eligible for appointment as a second lieutenant in the United States Air Force Reserve and for entry into flight training to win the silver wings of an Air Force Aerial Observer.

The statement came from Dr. Martin P. Sayers, Columbus brain surgeon, who has been attending the 29-year old Lancaster man. Strawn has been unconscious since the crash four weeks ago.

Dr. Sayers said the operation was necessary to remove fluid which has been collecting in Strawn's brain as a result of injury to his head.

Strawn is showing improvement but is still listed as "critical," he added.

THE HUSKY, six-foot tall Strawn was driving south, waiting to make a left turn off Route 23 when his car was struck from the rear. He was hurled into the path of an oncoming truck.

What Senators William Knowland and Lyndon Johnson propose is that we negotiate from strength; what Senator Morse proposes is that we seek a common denominator with our allies and negotiate from that weakened position.

Incidentally, these three speeches, Knowland's, Johnson's, and Morse's, are among the best made on the subject of Asia during this session and indicate a better understanding of the present situation than has been usual in the Senate. While Morse differs from Knowland and Johnson in many respects, he agrees with them to this extent:

"... I do not want Red China recognized by the United Nations. I want our delegation to vote against the recognition of Red China. I shall never vote on the floor of the Senate to recognize Red China."

The effect of Senator Johnson's speech was of the greatest significance. It established unanimity on this: the American people will not support the admission of Red China into the United Nations and that it is possible, even probable, that should Red China, by some parliamentary trick, be admitted, Congress might vote the United States out of the United Nations.

Sailor Crosses Atlantic Alone

COBH Ireland (AP)—Sven Joffe came off his seven-ton auxiliary cutter Atea and asked:

"Where can I have my beard shaved off?"

A waterfront character directed him to a barber shop.

"Thanks," replied Joffe nonchalantly. "I have just crossed the Atlantic alone."

The 33-year-old merchant seaman from New York said the voyage took him 42 days. He saved up $6,500 to buy the Atea and enlisted a friend as a crew, but the friend got married just as they were about to sail and his bride made him beg off.

Birdie Tebbetts, manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs, received his nickname because of his shrill voice.

Antonelli Heads For Triple Crown

NEW YORK (AP)—Lefty Johnny Antonelli, Milwaukee's gift to the New York Giants, is headed for pitching's triple crown (lowest earned run average, most victories and highest winning percentage) as he sets the National League pace today in all three departments.

Antonelli, acquired from the Braves in a trade last winter, has yielded only 45 earned runs in 182 innings for an earned run mark of 2.23, figures reveal.

The 24-year-old southpaw has won 16 games (most in the majors) and dropped only two for a winning percentage of .889. He has 11 straight victories and has not been beaten since May 21.

Noren, Snider Pacing Batsmen

NEW YORK (AP)—Irv Noren of the New York Yankees should lengthen his already comfortable American League batting lead tonight if he hits Cleveland pitching the way he did when the clubs met in their last three-game set. The left-handed hitting outfielder is batting .350.

In the National League, Duke Snider of Brooklyn dropped five points to .358, but Don Mueller of the New York Giants, his closest competitor, lost one to .343. Snider had eight hits in 28 trips last week and Mueller had 9-for-28.

Junior Legion Meet Continues

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio American Legion Junior Baseball Tournament enters its second day of play today with one defeat already stacked against the defending champion.

Yesterday, Portsmouth defeated Cincinnati's Bentley Post, 1953 state champions, 6-2, in the double elimination tournament.

Celina's game with Brookville was postponed yesterday because of rain. The game was rescheduled today.

Yesterday's results included: Columbus 7, Newark 3; Lancaster 7, Toledo 4; Massillon 3, Euclid 1.

Paul Brown, head coach and probably the top grid teacher in football today, chats with his star quarterbacks, Otto Graham (center) and George Ratterman.

Cleveland-Yankee Series May 'Retire' Casey Stengel

CLEVELAND (AP)—Casey Stengel has said if his New York Yankees fail to win the pennant this year he ought to get fired.

The high-flying Cleveland Indians can do something about that here tonight when they open a "crucial" three-game series with the defending world champions. A sweep of the vital set by the Indians back in their worst position since 1948 but would, in all likelihood, get Stengel out of their hair.

Nobody actually believes Stengel will be dismissed if the Indians dethrone the Yankees. It is quite possible, however, that the 64-year-old manager might call it a career. He has said on more than one oc-

Reds Chalking Biggest Slump Of Season

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds, losers in six of their last seven outings, are in the midst of their worst batting slump of the season.

Gus Bell, one of the top hitters in the National League all season, has had only three hits in his last seven games. And his lack of power has been catching.

"Bell's a better hitter than that," said Manager Birdie Tebbetts. "He's in a slump that grips individuals, and even entire teams, somewhere along the line. But he'll come out of it."

The centerfielder's average has dropped from .342 to .319 in the last seven games.

Ted Kluszewski, who usually follows Bell in the lineup, has had some hitting success, with nine hits in his last 27 at bats, but those safeties have produced a meager one run. That was on his 29th homer during the four-game series with the Giants.

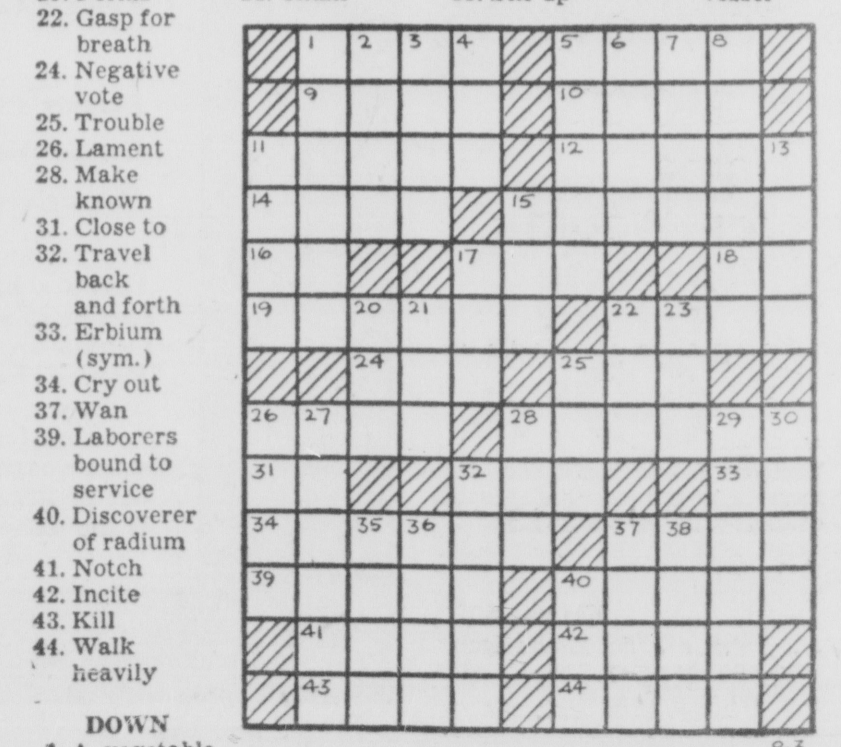

Tebbetts has tried to shake off the hitting blues with the use of Dayton's Bob Borkowski in the lineup. And while Bob has lifted his average above .300 for the first time, the team hasn't been able to produce the necessary runs.

The Reds have played .500 ball in Connie Mack stadium so far this season. Tebbetts selected Bud Podbielan, the righthander with a 6-5 record, for the mound chores tonight against Pirate Hurler Bob Friend.

Tebbetts flew into Cincinnati yesterday to visit his wife, Mary, and their new daughter. They named her Patricia. Their other children are Susan, 3, and Elizabeth, 1.

Driver Accused

WASHINGTON C. H. (AP)—Two charges of second-degree manslaughter were filed here against Donald Eugene Bryan, 21, of Washington C. H. yesterday. He was accused of the traffic deaths of two hitchhikers near here Sunday.

Mother, Child Shot In Alliance

ALLIANCE (AP)—A mother and her 2-year-old daughter were in City Hospital here today after the father shot and wounded them and then killed himself. Officials said the man, Paul Dugan, 25, of Beachwood, recently was sued for divorce. Mrs. Doris Dugan, 25, was in fair condition. Her daughter, Linda, 2, was in poor condition. They were at the home of Mrs. Dugan's grandmother, Mrs. Agnes Schroeder, deputies said, when Dugan opened fire with a rifle.

Composers Cited

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union's two foremost composers, Dmitri Shostakovich and Aram Khachaturian, have been named "People's Artists." Renowned musicians, often targets of criticism by state organs, never before had received this top honor awarded to Soviet composers.

Birdie Tebbetts, manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs, received his nickname because of his shrill voice.

Antonelli Heads For Triple Crown

NEW YORK (AP)—Lefty Johnny Antonelli, Milwaukee's gift to the New York Giants, is headed for pitching's triple crown (lowest earned run average, most victories and highest winning percentage) as he sets the National League pace today in all three departments.

Antonelli, acquired from the Braves in a trade last winter, has yielded only 45 earned runs in 182 innings for an earned run mark of 2.23, figures reveal.

The 24-year-old southpaw has won 16 games (most in the majors) and dropped only two for a winning percentage of .889. He has 11 straight victories and has not been beaten since May 21.

Noren, Snider Pacing Batsmen

NEW YORK (AP)—Irv Noren of the New York Yankees should lengthen his already comfortable American League batting lead tonight if he hits Cleveland pitching the way he did when the clubs met in their last three-game set. The left-handed hitting outfielder is batting .350.

In the National League, Duke Snider of Brooklyn dropped five points to .358, but Don Mueller of the New York Giants, his closest competitor, lost one to .343. Snider had eight hits in 28 trips last week and Mueller had 9-for-28.

Junior Legion Meet Continues

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio American Legion Junior Baseball Tournament enters its second day of play today with one defeat already stacked against the defending champion.

Yesterday, Portsmouth defeated Cincinnati's Bentley Post, 1953 state champions, 6-2, in the double elimination tournament.

Celina's game with Brookville was postponed yesterday because of rain. The game was rescheduled today.

Yesterday's results included: Columbus 7, Newark 3; Lancaster 7, Toledo 4; Massillon 3, Euclid 1.

Paul Brown, head coach and probably the top grid teacher in football today, chats with his star quarterbacks, Otto Graham (center) and George Ratterman.

Cleveland-Yankee Series May 'Retire' Casey Stengel

CLEVELAND (AP)—Casey Stengel has said if his New York Yankees fail to win the pennant this year he ought to get fired.

The high-flying Cleveland Indians can do something about that here tonight when they open a "crucial" three-game series with the defending world champions. A sweep of the vital set by the Indians back in their worst position since 1948 but would, in all likelihood, get Stengel out of their hair.

Nobody actually believes Stengel will be dismissed if the Indians dethrone the Yankees. It is quite possible, however, that the 64-year-old manager might call it a career. He has said on more than one oc-

Reds Chalking Biggest Slump Of Season

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds, losers in six of their last seven outings, are in the midst of their worst batting slump of the season.

Gus Bell, one of the top hitters in the National League all season, has had only three hits in his last seven games. And his lack of power has been catching.

"Bell's a better hitter than that," said Manager Birdie Tebbetts. "He's in a slump that grips individuals, and even entire teams, somewhere along the line. But he'll come out of it."

The centerfielder's average has dropped from .342 to .319 in the last seven games.

Ted Kluszewski, who usually follows Bell in the lineup, has had some hitting success, with nine hits in his last 27 at bats, but those safeties have produced a meager one run. That was on his 29th homer during the four-game series with the Giants.

Tebbetts has tried to shake off the hitting blues with the use of Dayton's Bob Borkowski in the lineup. And while Bob has lifted his average above .300 for the first time, the team hasn't been able to produce the necessary runs. The Reds have played .500 ball in Connie Mack stadium so far this season. Tebbetts selected Bud Podjeil, the righthander with a 6-5 record, for the mound chores tonight against Pirate Hurler Bob Friend.

Tebbetts flew into Cincinnati yesterday to visit his wife, Mary, and their new daughter. They named her Patricia. Their other children are Susan, 3, and Elizabeth, 1.

Driver Accused

WASHINGTON C. H. (AP)—Two charges of second-degree manslaughter were filed here against Donald Eugene Bryan, 21, of Washington C. H. yesterday. He was accused of the traffic deaths of two hitchhikers near here Sunday.

Mother, Child Shot In Alliance

ALLIANCE (AP)—A mother and her 2-year-old daughter were in City Hospital here today after the father shot and wounded them and then killed himself.

Officials said the man, Paul Du-

Composers Cited

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union's two foremost composers, Dmitri Shostakovich and Aram Khachaturian, have been named "People's Artists." Renowned musicians, often targets of criticism by state organs, never before had received this top honor awarded to Soviet composers.

Turkeys On List Of Nation's Plentiful Foods During August

Pickaway County farmers can obtain experienced advice and up-to-date literature on their farming problems at the County Extension Office, located in the Post Office Building, S. Court St., Circleville. The office here headed by County Agent Larry Best, is the link between district farmers and the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University.

Turkey time moves up to mid-Summer in the August list of Plentiful Foods announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Turkeys are expected to be available in abundance this month, especially young birds of the Beltsville breed, with plenty left for Thanksgiving and Christmas. Bartlett pears, from Michigan and from the Pacific Coast states, also are given top billing by USDA market specialists.

In the Midwest, homegrown vegetables, such as sweet corn, beans, celery, cabbage, and tomatoes, are expected to be plentiful because of peak season harvest which will be marketed.

Medium and small eggs are expected to be on the market in large numbers laid by pullets hatched in early spring. California will send large shipments of lemons and Florida will be supplying limes in abundance.

The heavy run of beef cattle to markets which usually takes place in the fall months seems to be earlier this year, because of dry weather in the range country, and the supply of beef is expected to be large. Chickens of two principal types, fryers and stewing hens, are listed too.

Milk and all dairy products, salad oils, vegetable shortening, and fresh fish complete the list of Plentiful Foods for the Midwest as issued by the Department of Agriculture.

Mr. Consumer, Too

He's a producer, yes, but the farmers of America each year need: 7 million tons of finished steel. 50 million tons of chemical materials. 16.5 billion gallons of crude petroleum, more than is used by any other industry. 15 billion KWH of electrical power, enough to supply Chicago, Detroit, Baltimore and Houston for one year.

Farmers will market fewer potatoes in the next 2 months than they did last summer unless shipments from late potato states are considerably heavier than in 1953.

Marketing specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture say late spring marketings of potatoes were down 25 percent. They also report prospects are for eight percent smaller harvest this year in the summer commercial potato states.

Farmers received higher prices for potatoes in both May and

ROUNDUP

June than in those months last year.

More than 2,666 tons of water are needed to make a 100-bushel corn crop, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in citing estimates by corn belt specialists. "Because of this fact," says a statement by the committee, "it is essential that farmers keep their soils in shape to make maximum use of every drop of rain available."

Actually, many corn belt farms are only about 50 per cent efficient in the use of water for producing crops, says the committee.

Two factors responsible for this are:

1—Too much water is permitted to get away. It runs off because some soils are in such poor shape that the surface seals over and won't allow water to soak in.

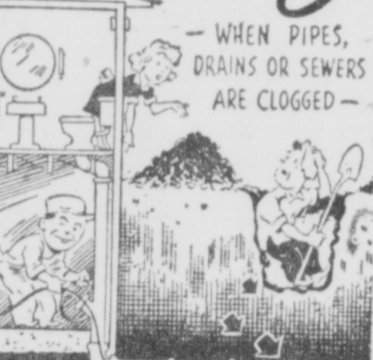

2—When the soil's fertility level is low, more water is needed to take the nutrients into the growing plants, because the concentration of nutrients in the soil solution will be low.

"Soils make most efficient use of water," says the committee, "when they are porous of good tilth and are high in organic matter. When such soils get a well-balanced supply of nitrogen, phosphate and potash fertilizer, growing crops have the full benefit of all the nutrients and moisture they need for high yields."

"Soils can be kept in good condition for maximum water use, by growing legumes and grasses regularly in the rotation, by adding fertilizer and lime, where needed and by returning crop aftermath to the soils. On some soils Midwest agronomists recommend two years of a legume or legume-grass sod in every four to build the supply of active organic matter to keep the soil in good shape."

Buy herd boars early as a first step in improving spring's pig crop, Herb Barnes advised farmers. Early buyers have more good animals to choose from and they can get boars settled in their

Girl KPs Big Hit With GIs; No Gravy Sopped On Pie

ENID, Okla. (P)—A GI's dream waitress dressed in trim, white uniforms, greeted Vance Air Force Base airmen as they went to chow Monday.

It was only the second day of the Air Force's experiment at turning kitchen police duty over to a catering service. But the trial, due to continue for 11 months, was immediately pronounced a tremendous success.

"Everyone was very enthusiastic, especially the enlisted men who ordinarily pull KP every 15 or 20 days," said Lt. Joseph A.

Mighty Atlas Felled By 'Girl'

CHICAGO (P)—Morris Shapiro, 200-pound wrestler known as the Mighty Atlas, said he was no match for a 119-pound brunette.

Shapiro, defending himself on a disorderly conduct charge brought by Mrs. Shirley Karam, 29, displayed two snapshots yesterday showing a deep scratch on his arm.

He said Mrs. Karam charged him after he flicked ice water on her bare back while she was sunning herself on a Chicago beach.

"My, my, it looks like you suffered more in this fight than in all your previous engagements," remarked Municipal Judge Casimir Cwiklinski as he fined Shapiro $25.

new surroundings before the fall breeding season.

Barnes, Ohio State University swine specialist reminded farmers to buy only from reputable breeders and to have boars tested for brucellosis before taking them into the herd.

Hays, public information officer.

The girls loved it too. Sharon Ruch, a stenographer for the catering firm who helped in the kitchen the first day, said she liked it so well she's thinking of discarding typewriter for apron.

"The girls were overwhelmed by the reception," said Jack McGaha, manager for the nationwide Food Service, Inc., of Chicago.

Asked if there was any chow-line flirting, he replied:

"Yes, there was some of that going on—you know soldiers."

Here's what the men thought of girl KPs:

"It's more appetizing — the food, I mean."

"They can feed me dog food now and I wouldn't know the difference."

"It's better than eating in a restaurant. The only difference is you walk out without paying."

Cafeteria style still prevails. But instead of the old trays where the gravy sopped over on the apple pie, good chinaware is used.

Security Ruling Being Modified

WASHINGTON (P)—President Eisenhower has modified the government's security regulations today to permit the removal of any employee who "in the opinion of competent medical authority" has a mental or physical illness affecting his judgment or reliability.

The present regulation requires a court determination that an employee's judgment is faulty because of a mental or other illness.

- 1—Too much water is permitted to get away. It runs off because some soils are in such poor shape that the surface seals over and won't allow water to soak in.
- 2—When the soil's fertility level is low, more water is needed to take the nutrients into the growing plants, because the concentration of nutrients in the soil solution will be low.

"Soils make most efficient use of water," says the committee, "when they are porous of good tilth and are high in organic matter. When such soils get a well-balanced supply of nitrogen, phosphate and potash fertilizer, growing crops have the full benefit of all the nutrients and moisture they need for high yields."

"Soils can be kept in good condition for maximum water use, by growing legumes and grasses regularly in the rotation, by adding fertilizer and lime, where needed and by returning crop aftermath to the soils. On some soils Midwestern agronomists recommend two years of a legume or legume-grass sod in every four to build the supply of active organic matter to keep the soil in good shape."

Buy herd boars early as a first step in improving spring's pig crop, Herb Barnes advised farmers. Early buyers have more good animals to choose from and they can get boars settled in their

Girl KPs Big Hit With GIs; No Gravy Sopped On Pie

ENID, Okla. (AP)—A GI's dream waitress dressed in trim, white uniforms, greeted Vance Air Force Base airmen as they went to chow Monday.

It was only the second day of the Air Force's experiment at turning kitchen police duty over to a catering service. But the trial, due to continue for 11 months, was immediately pronounced a tremendous success.

"Everyone was very enthusiastic, especially the enlisted men who ordinarily pull KP every 15 or 20 days," said Lt. Joseph A.

Hays, public information officer. The girls loved it too.

Sharon Ruch, a stenographer for the catering firm who helped in the kitchen the first day, said she liked it so well she's thinking of discarding typewriter for apron.

"The girls were overwhelmed by the reception," said Jack McGaha, manager for the nationwide Food Service, Inc., of Chicago.

Asked if there was any chow-line flirting, he replied: "Yes, there was some of that going on—you know soldiers."

Here's what the men thought of girl KPs: "It's more appetizing—the food, I mean."

"They can feed me dog food now and I wouldn't know the difference."

"It's better than eating in a restaurant. The only difference is you walk out without paying."

Cafeteria style still prevails. But instead of the old trays where the gravy sopped over on the apple pie, good chinaware is used.

Security Ruling Being Modified

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has modified the government's security regulations today to permit the removal of any employee who "in the opinion of competent medical authority" has a mental or physical illness affecting his judgment or reliability.

The present regulation requires a court determination that an employee's judgment is faulty because of a mental or other illness.
